IN MEMORY

The Mavericks were saddened last Aug. 14 to learn of the passing of Jack Nagle, the club's Midwest scout since 1981. A former CBA commissioner and head coach at Marquette University, Nagle was well-liked and respected by his colleagues. The Mavericks will remember fondly the dedication and enthusiasm he brought to his work.

Don and Linda Carter

DONALD CARTER
Owner/President

Donald J. Carter is the president of Home Interiors & Gifts, Inc., which owns HI Service Enterprises, Inc., the parent company of the Dallas Mavericks.

Born July 5, 1933 in Fayetteville, Ark., Carter was raised in Dallas. Sports were not a part of his childhood. "I was a mechanical nut," Carter says. "I loved to make things run and my idols were connected with racing. My first sports hero was Joey Chitwood, the stunt driver. I never played Little League, Pop Warner football, or any of that. When I got to high school, where I might have been able to play sports, I was going to school half a day, then I worked in the afternoons."

In a way, it makes perfect sense that Carter would one day own a pro sports franchise. After all, he got his first lessons in free enterprise by selling peanuts and programs at the Cotton Bowl and SMU's Moody Coliseum.

Carter's interest in basketball started when he met his wife, Linda. "To get a second date I had to go to a basketball tournament in Duncanville (Texas)," Carter recalls. "I married her six weeks later and that was over thirty glorious years ago. Today, she's a very successful banker." Linda Carter is president of 1st Coppell Bank of Coppell, one of the fastest-growing and most profitable banks of its size in Dallas/Fort Worth. Linda was named 1990 Coppell Woman of the Year by the Coppell city council.

Carter's approach to his role as Mavericks owner is refreshing. "I don't think you, as an individual, ever really own something like this," he says. "You own the right to manage it. The club belongs to the people who fill the seats, read the papers, watch TV, buy the advertising. Those people are all a part of the Mavericks family."

Said Mavericks Chief Operating Officer/General Manager Norm Sonju: "One of the most rewarding aspects of working with Don is seeing how sincere he is in genuinely wanting to do something for Dallas and for our fans. This year was a great example. He knew that if there ever was a year when we needed to raise our season ticket prices, it would be this year. The salary levels of our players will exceed our gate receipts and we were committed to spend $5 million for the city of Dallas on our new scoreboard replay system.

"Don wanted to give a 10th anniversary birthday gift to our season ticket holders by not raising prices. That's something I admire. Even though he is a great businessman, he often subordinates his business sense for his care and concern for the fans and community. To the best of my knowledge, we're the only team in basketball that has kept one section of seating at $5 since the beginning of our franchise. Don is committed to do this to absolutely make it possible for everyone to be able to afford to see the Mavericks play in person."

Carter, who as a boy was a "Little Brother" in the Dallas Big Brothers program, is committed to helping young people. He credits much of his success to the positive influence and discipline he received through the Boys Club and Big Brothers. His efforts in the area of youth services earned Carter the 1989 Clint Murchison Jr. Award from Boys Clubs of Greater Dallas. Carter has been the recipient of several other civic and Christian honors, including the Fellowship of Christian Athletes Adult Member of the Year Award in 1974. Carter was named a Dallas "Father of the Year" in 1983.

The Fellowship of Christian Athletes, the Lena Pope Home, the Youth for Tomorrow Foundation, the YMCA and the Boy Scouts of America are among the many organizations he supports. Carter serves on the board of the Institute for Aerobics Research and represents the Mavericks on the NBA Board of Governors and on the league's Finance and Advisory Committee.

Don and Linda reside in Coppell, Texas. They have six children who call them Mom and Dad: two adopted sons, Brian and Keith Weaver (the children of Don's deceased uncle); Don's oldest, Jeanine; and Joey, Ron and Christi. Brian, and his wife Kristen live in Waco, where Brian is a junior at Baylor University. Keith and his wife Jill are stationed at Plattsburgh Air Force Base in New York. Jeanine, her husband Dave Lusk, and their daughter Amy, live in Colorado. Joey and his wife Penni reside in Dallas with their daughter, Mary Elizabeth. Ron and his wife, Wanda, who also live in Dallas, have two sons, Lee and Clint. Christi and her husband, Dr. Hal Urschel, divide their time between Dallas and Philadelphia.

The theme of family is a constant in every aspect of Carter's life. Don and Linda are extremely proud of their four grandchildren. Home Interiors & Gifts' 39,000 employees and displayers are also part of the family.

The Carters are fans of all of Dallas' pro sports teams. When the Mavericks season ends, Don and his family may be found enjoying the action at the Mesquite Championship Rodeo on many weekends. They also enjoy spending time on their 60-foot motor yacht, "The Lady C."

Carter provided the financial support needed in 1980 for NBA approval of the Mavericks as an expansion team. Sonju said it best when he wrote in the 10th Anniversary Issue of Dallas Mavericks Press, "Thanks, Mr. C. We'll never be able to repay you properly!"

NORM SONJU

Chief Operating Officer/ General Manager

Norm Sonju

Norm Sonju, who in 1979 directed the Mavericks expansion drive, this season leads the Mavericks organization into its second decade. As chief operating officer/general manager, Sonju is responsible for the overall operation of the club.

Last summer Sonju and the Mavericks basketball staff took an aggressive approach to improving the team. With the nucleus of the Mavericks in its prime, decisions were made to trace draft choices for established veterans Fat Lever and Rodney McCray. Alex English, the eighth-leading scorer in NBA history, was signed as a free agent.

"We added three outstanding players who bring to the team a lot of experience and a ton of character," Sonju said. "All three are excited about being a part of our team, which will make a great difference. We all believe that this team could make '90-91 our best season ever."

Steps were taken to improve the Mavericks product off the court as well. The Sony Jumbotron JTS-16, a scoreboard/replay system which features the finest video resolution available, comes to Reunion Arena for the 1990-91 season. This $5 million scoreboard is the largest of its kind with this resolution.

"As we head into our second decade at Reunion Arena we are committed, along with the city of Dallas, to give our fans the finest possible entertainment value when they attend our games," Sonju said. "We're excited about the new state-of-the-art scoreboard and control room/production facility. We also upgraded the message boards in the arena and replaced all the 19-inch monitors at the concession stands with 27-inch monitors."

The Mavericks have averaged better than 99 percent of Reunion Arena's 17,007-seat capacity in each of the last five seasons. Consistent with Sonju's policy of making Mavericks games available to all fans, season ticket sales are cut off at 14,000 seats and a block of tickets is placed on sale one week in advance of each home game. As a 10th anniversary gift, season ticket prices were not raised this year for existing season ticket holders, even though it was the most expensive offseason in club history.

Sonju served on the NBA expansion committee and was regularly consulted by the four expansion teams which entered the NBA in 1989 and 1990. In October 1988 the Charlotte Hornets presented Sonju with a personalized Hornets game jersey at their first home preseason game in recognition for his support of their efforts to bring the NBA to Charlotte.

In February 1989 Sonju was presented with the Drug Enforcement Agency's local Administrator of the Year Award for his support of drug awareness programs. Sonju also was a recipient of the 1988 Father of the Year award, a prestigious local honor.

"My three priorities are my faith in Jesus Christ, my family and the Mavericks," Sonju explains. "That's where my emphasis is." Last July Sonju shared his testimony at a Billy Graham Crusade attended by 16,000 at Knickerbocker Arena in Albany, N.Y. His remarks were included in a nationally syndicated television program of Crusade highlights, which was broadcast in September.

On the job one of Sonju's main focuses is with serving Mavericks fans. "We ask ourselves, 'How can we make coming to a game more fun?' 'How can we make the team better?' Once the game begins, we really can't control what happens on the court, but we can control what happens off it. We can give our customers a nice show in a clean, wholesome environment. This is a goal we continually strive for."

Sonju was president/general manager of the Buffalo Braves from 1976-78. When that team moved to San Diego as the Clippers, Sonju supervised the start-up of the new operation, then began his quest for an expansion team in Dallas.

Prior to entering the NBA, Sonju was an executive with ServiceMaster Industries, in Downers Grove, Ill. Sonju earned a bachelor's degree at Grinnell (Iowa) College in 1960. In 1967, after a stint in the Air Force, Sonju received a master's of business administration degree from the University of Chicago.

For the 27th year last July, Sonju directed the Camp of the Woods basketball clinic in upstate New York's Adirondack Mountains. He founded the clinic in 1963. Roy Tarpley, Bob McCann, Clifford Ray, Keith Grant and Kyle Leath served on this year's staff.

Sonju serves on the board of Correct Craft, a Florida boat manufacturing company. He's also involved with several civic and Christian concerns, including Urban Alternative, a weekly Christian radio ministry headed up by Dr. Tony Evans, the Mavericks' chaplain/counselor. Sonju also chairs the annual Christian Leadership Classic, a golf tournament which has raised nearly $1 million since 1983.

Sonju was born September 30, 1938 in Chicago. He and his wife Carole reside in Dallas with their children, Lynne (5/19/69), a senior at Texas A&M, Scott (1/31/72), a freshman at Texas A&M and David (2/11/77), an eighth-grade student at Trinity Christian Academy.

Rick Sund

RICK SUND

Vice President/ Basektball Operations

Rick Sund is in his 11th year with the Mavericks and 16th in the NBA. In November 1979, as Norm Sonju's first hire, Sund began preparing for the May 1980 dispersal draft. Today Sund is responsible for the club's basketball administration and is the club's point man on player personnel matters. Sund also spends a significant amount of time on the road evaluating college talent.

"Rick is a real doer," said Mavericks Chief Operating Officer/General Manager Norm Sonju. "He is not afraid to pull the trigger on a deal. He's not a 'reactor.' He truly thinks things through and I respect that. He also has a great gift of being able to communicate. It's been a real pleasure for me to work with Rick these past 11 years."

Sund, 39, spent five years on the Milwaukee Bucks staff after earning a master's in sports administration from Ohio U. in 1974. He received a bachelor's degree in political science from Northwestern, where he averaged double figures as a 6-4 guard. The '71 Wildcat MVP twice made the Big Ten all-academic team, and even saw some action as tight end on the NU football squad.

Richard Walker Sund was born on June 4, 1951 in Elgin, Ill. He is a member of that Chicago suburb's Hall of Fame. Sund represents the Mavericks on the NBA Rules & Competition Committee and serves as spokesman for Jeep/Eagle. In December 1989 Sund completed the Dallas White Rock Marathon. Sund, who is also an avid golfer, and his wife Lea reside in Dallas with their children Hali (4/10/83) and Patrick (6/27/86).

Doug Adkins

DOUG ADKINS

Vice President/ Counsel

VP/Counsel Doug Adkins has been practicing law in Dallas since 1963. He's a partner in the law firm of Gardere & Wynne, where he has served on the management committee and as chairman of the private business section. His practice emphasizes the representation of entrepreneurs, direct sales companies, professional sports organizations, and FDIC/RTC related financial institutions.

Adkins advises the club on all legal matters. When player, advertising, or other contract negotiations reach the drafting stage, Chief Operating Officer/GM Norm Sonju turns the information over to Adkins to be prepared in accordance with the NBA collective bargaining agreement.

"With all of the complicated negotiations and contracts that needed to be written on the scoreboard system/production company last summer, Doug did a masterful job of pulling it all together," said Sonju. "I appreciate his ability to take very complicated matters and make them such that we laymen get a good grasp as well. It's a rare trait and Doug is a real pro at it." says Sonju.

Adkins is one of the founders of Pro Basketball Fellowship, an NBA-wide chapel organization and continues to serve as its counsel and secretary. He's a member of the board of directors of Home Interiors & Gifts, Inc., First Coppell Bank and several other client-related corporations. Adkins also serves on the board of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes in Dallas. He previously served as chairman of the board of trustees of Dallas Baptist University and continues to serve on the boards of several non-profit corporations and other Christian concerns.

A native of Shreveport, La., Adkins graduated with highest honors from the University of Southwestern Louisiana in 1960 with a degree in geology. He earned his law degree with highest honors from the Tulane School of Law three years later.

A deacon at First Baptist Church, Adkins and his wife Carole reside in Dallas. They have two children: daughter Mindy, who is married to former SMU basketball standout David Piehler; and son Greg, a college student.

RICHIE ADUBATO
Head Coach

Richie Adubato

Richie Adubato, who took over as head coach following the dismissal of John MacLeod on Nov. 29, 1989, was named head coach on a permanent basis on April 22, 1990. The Mavericks were 42-29 (.592) under Adubato (pronounced Ah-duh-bah-doe), including 19-3 in their last 22 home games.

The third head coach in Mavericks history, Adubato joined the club on July 25, 1986 as an assistant coach under Dick Motta. The 1990-91 season will be Adubato's fifth in Dallas and 13th in the NBA.

"Before Richie took over as head coach, we knew he had many terrific qualities," said Chief Operating Officer/General Manager Norm Sonju. "We knew of his dedication to the game and his focus on basketball. One of the pleasant surprises was his adaptability. For example, early in the season Richie was getting a number of technical fouls. He was willing to adapt and adjust his style so that in the last 24 games, he received only two. That's just one example, but this trait of adaptability is going to help Richie immeasurably. The coaches who are successful in this league are the ones who adapt and adjust. Richie impressed me."

Under Adubato, the Mavericks have broken the club defense record each of the last three seasons. Last year, Dallas permitted just 102.2 ppg, fourth-best in the NBA. In 1985-86, the year before Adubato came aboard, the Mavericks ranked 21st among 23 teams, allowing 114.2 ppg. In 1989-90 the Mavericks held a club record 35 opponents under 100 points, including 12 which failed to score 90 points. The Mavericks won 15 games in which they trailed entering the fourth period, shattering the club record of seven.

"Richie is a guy who's prepared to win each and every night," said team captain Rolando Blackman. "He prepares us to win. We have great respect for Richie as a coach and as a person he cares about us. He knows the game and we respect his judgment. He works very hard and is an intense person."

To describe Adubato as having passion for the game of basketball is an understatement. "He dreams about sports every night," says Adubato's wife, Carol. "One night I woke up and he was palming my head. I woke him up and asked him what he was dreaming about, and he said that he was going in for a slam dunk. He was using my head as the basketball. He had to be dreaming though, because he is too short to dunk."

Then-Pistons Head Coach Dick Vitale brought Adubato into the NBA as his top aide in 1978. When Vitale was dismissed 12 games into the 1979-80 season, Adubato was named interim head coach.

The next two years Adubato served as a Northeast scout for the Atlanta Hawks before joining the New York Knicks in 1982 as assistant coach under Hubie Brown. Adubato spent four seasons with the Knicks before being hired by the Mavericks in 1986.

In 18 seasons as a head coach at the high school and college levels, Adubato compiled a record of 290-85 (.773). He began his coaching career at the jayvee level in 1960. Adubato, who earned $8 a game as a high school referee in his first three years as a coach, went on to become one of New Jersey's most successful high school coaches. He posted a 76-14 record at Our Lady of the Valley H.S. in Orange, N.J., winning three-straight parochial school titles and the 1964 state championship. From there he was hired as frosh coach at Upsala College in his hometown of East Orange, N.J. After three years at that post (42-8) he was promoted to head coach and recorded a 100-53 mark from 1972-78. His 1976 team won the ECAC Division III title and his '78 club went 19-9, earning the school's first NCAA bid in 20 years.

It was in the New Jersey high school and college ranks that Adubato began his long associations with future college and NBA head coaches Vitale, Brown, Rollie Massimino, Mike Fratello, Jerry Tarkanian, Rick Pitino, Lou Campanelli, Bob Zuffelato and Ron Rothstein. Longtime NBA assistant Herman Kull and current NBA assistant coaches, Brendan Suhr (Detroit) and Brian Hill (Orlando) were also part of that circle.

"Ronnie Rothstein (head coach of the Miami Heat) was my assistant at Upsala," Adubato recalls. "When we were washing uniforms at a laundromat in the middle of the night during a snowstorm in Pennsylvania, I said to him, 'Do you think John Wooden has to do this?' The NBA was the farthest thing from our minds."

Said Sonju: "Richie somehow knows every player in the NBA, not only from college, but also from junior high, usually somewhere in New Jersey. I'm convinced that any player who's played east of the Mississippi at any time in his life, has come across Richie in a basketball setting. Seriously, Richie does have a great basketball pedigree."

Richard Adam Adubato was born on November 23, 1937. He earned both undergraduate and graduate degrees as well as some doctoral credits in administration from William Paterson (N.J.) College where he captained both the baseball and basketball teams. Adubato, who was recently inducted into the William Paterson Hall of Fame, was a standout first baseman on the 1959 team which won the NAIA world series. Stan Musial was Adubato's boyhood idol.

On July 25, 1989 Adubato married the former Carol Begerow in Italy, Texas. Richie suggested the location after he and Carol were unsuccessful in their attempts to get married in Rome, Italy while they were there for one of Richie's basketball clinics.

Unlike many of his coaching brethren, Adubato does not enjoy golf. "I got stung by a bee the first time I played," Adubato says. "But I used to be great at miniature golf. I can't putt unless there's a windmill in front of the hole." Adubato does enjoy tennis, Broadway shows and shopping for neckties.

Adubato has two children: Beth (4/13/61) and Scott (3/11/64). Adubato became a grandfather last July when Beth and her husband, Eric Hoffmaster, became the parents of a daughter, Alegra Susan. Scott, a former standout at Upsala, was the Sacramento Kings' seventh-round draft choice in 1987. He's in his first season as an assistant coach under Tom Young at Old Dominion.

GAR HEARD

Assistant Coach

Gar Heard

Gar Heard, a veteran of 11 NBA seasons as a player, is in his fourth year as a Mavericks assistant coach. Heard joined the Mavericks as an aide to John MacLeod on August 21, 1987. Heard worked alongside Richie Adubato for two seasons before serving as Adubato's lone assistant after Adubato assumed control of the team on Nov. 29, 1989.

"Last year Garfield had to step up and assume the responsibility of both offensive and defensive charts during the game, he had to play an increased role at the practice sessions and he had to do more teaching than before," Adubato said. "He made great strides in every area. Garfield has a very good feel during the course of the game for matchups. I rely very heavily on him during the games for his ability to pick things out on the floor."

Heard served as a volunteer assistant coach under Bob Weinhauer at Arizona State in 1982-83. Also on that staff was former Chicago Bulls Head Coach Doug Collins. After his year at ASU, Heard went into the commercial real estate business in the Phoenix area. "After my year at ASU I knew I wanted to get back into coaching," Heard said.

Heard came into the NBA as Seattle's third-round draft choice out of Oklahoma in 1970. He played on seven playoff teams in his 11 seasons while making NBA stops in Chicago ('72-73), Buffalo ('73-75), Phoenix ('76-79) and San Diego ('80-81). Heard played for four of the NBA's nine winningest all-time coaches: Lenny Wilkens, Dick Motta, Jack Ramsay and John MacLeod. A 6-6, 219-pound forward, Heard compiled lifetime averages of 8.7 ppg and 7.5 rpg. His best season was 1973-74 in Buffalo when he averaged 15.3 ppg and 11.7 rebounds (9th in NBA). He was known for his high-arcing jumper and his long-armed defensive abilities.

With 36 games left in the 1975-76 season, the last place Suns traded John Shumate to Buffalo for Heard, who went on to lead the Suns to a playoff berth. In the conference finals against Golden State, Heard preserved the Suns' 105-104 Game Six victory by blocking a Jamaal Wilkes shot at the buzzer. In the classic Game Five at Boston in the Finals, Heard sent the game into its third overtime with the "shot Heard 'round the world" — an-18-foot jumper with one second left. Boston won in triple overtime, 128-126 as Heard played 61 of the 63 minutes.

Heard, who is a cousin of veteran NBA guard Derek Smith, was born May 3, 1948 in Hogansville, Ga. He has two children: daughter Yaasmeen (1/21/78) and son Gyasi (8/16/79).

BOB ZUFFELATO

Assistant Coach

Bob Zuffelato

Bob Zuffelato, the newest member of the Mavericks coaching staff, joined the club on June 18, 1990 after serving as an assistant coach with the Minnesota Timberwolves last season.

Zuffelato, born Nov. 27, 1937, joined the Timberwolves as an assistant under Bill Musselman in September 1989 after two seasons as director of player personnel for the Milwaukee Bucks. His 27-year basketball career includes six NBA seasons: one in Minnesota, two with the Bucks and three as an assistant coach to John Bach with the Golden State Warriors from 1983-1986. After leaving the Warriors, Zuffelato spent a year as an associate of Boston-based sports attorney Bob Wolff, working in the area of client relations.

"Bob brings us a lot of coaching experience at every level," Head Coach Richie Adubato said. "He's very organized and knowledgeable. He understands the game. He's done a lot of work offensively, has a good rapport with players and is a good teacher.

"He's a very fanatical basketball man. He works hard at every aspect of the game. Bob complements Gar Heard very well. Gar will continue to work with the defensive statistics that he has learned from me. Bob will be zeroing in on the offensive end. I'll be able to coordinate both areas. This will allow us a little more specialization. Because of the preparation that goes on today, every game is like a playoff game, so you need to be well organized. The addition of Bob will help us in all aspects."

Prior to beginning his NBA career, Zuffelato compiled a 160-121 (.569) record in 10 years as a head coach at Boston College (six seasons) and Marshall University (four seasons).

In 1969 he accepted the assistant coach position at Boston College under Chuck Daly. He succeeded Daly as head coach in 1971, going 89-80 in six seasons. In 1977 he joined Marshall as associate head coach before taking over the program in 1979, posting a 71-41 record in four years.

A native of Torrington, Conn., Zuffelato played college ball at Central Connecticut State. He began his coaching career in 1959 as the assistant freshman coach at Michigan. From there he coached at the high school level until 1966. After two seasons as an assistant coach at Hofstra and one at Central Connecticut State, Zuffelato joined Daly's staff at Boston College.

Zuffelato and his wife Donna reside in Dallas. They have three sons: Scott (12/11/61), who is the athletic marketing director at the University of Connecticut, Glen (1/1/66), a sales representative for a wire manufacturer, and Greg (7/26/70), a sophomore basketball walk-on at Fresno State.

Clifford Ray

CLIFFORD RAY

Special Assignment Coach

Clifford Ray, a 10-year NBA veteran, works with the Mavericks centers and forwards in his part-time role as special assignment coach. Ray initially joined the Mavericks staff to work with the club's big men in the 1987 training camp. Ray has a full-time position at the Service Industries Gym, the Mavericks practice facility.

Ray averaged 7.4 ppg and 8.9 rpg in 10 seasons with Chicago and Golden State. He turned in his best season in 1973-74 with Chicago, averaging 9.3 ppg and 12.2 rpg. Ray, who completed his career in 1980-81, played on four 50-plus win teams and was the starting center on the Warriors' 1974-75 championship team. He played college ball at Oklahoma under former Mavericks head coach John MacLeod.

Ray was born January 21, 1949 in Union, S.C. He enjoys fishing ("I hope to be on the pro bass tour by the time I'm 55") and cooking. Ray has served on the staff of Norm Sonju's Camp-of-the-Woods basketball clinic each of the last three years. Single, Ray resides in Dallas.

Keith Grant

KEITH GRANT

Director of Scouting

Keith Grant, who scouts college talent as well as upcoming opponents for the Mavericks, is in his 11th year with the club. This season Grant's responsibilities have been expanded to include coordinating all scouting assignments. Regional scouts Richie O'Connor (east) and Dick Baker (west) report to Grant.

"Rick (Sund) and I met in June and felt it was the perfect time for Keith to be elevated to director of scouting," said Chief Operating Officer/General Manager Norm Sonju. "He has proved to be so effective and helpful to the basketball staff. We have confidence in his scouting analysis and feel he is ready for these added responsibilities."

Grant, who in 1980 was hired as the Mavericks' first equipment manager, is the perfect example of Sonju's business philosophy of promoting from within. Grant was elevated to the position of administrative assistant/scout in 1984. After two years as a college scout, his duties were expanded to include advance pro scouting prior to 1986-87. He contributes to the coaches' pre-game scouting reports and is responsible for assembling the Mavericks vast videotape library.

Grant began his career in sports at the age of 12 as a bat boy for the Oklahoma City 89ers AAA baseball team. He spent 12 years with the 89ers manning various positions.

Grant, who was born on January 3, 1958, earned his bachelor's degree in business from Oklahoma City University in 1980. He played four years of varsity baseball there and also spent three years in various capacities with the basketball staff.

Grant, who served as the Arlington Stadium organist from 1982-84, is an avid baseball fan and golfer. He and his wife Nancy live in Carrollton with their daughters, Jennifer (11/17/86) and Melissa (6/16/88).

DOUG ATKINSON

Trainer

Doug Atkinson

Doug Atkinson, the only trainer the Mavericks have ever had, returns for his 11th year as the man responsible for the health and fitness of the Mavericks. The 1990-91 season is Atkinson's 20th in professional sports. Atkinson's emphasis on cardiovascular conditioning and pre- and post-practice stretching is at least partly responsible for the club's lack of nagging muscle pulls and strains over the years. Atkinson was named trainer of the West All-Stars in 1981 and 1986.

Before coming to Dallas, Atkinson spent five years as Chicago Bulls trainer and had previous experience with baseball's Dodgers and Angels.

He has never missed a game in 15 NBA seasons — that's 1,230 games and counting entering '90-91. The 39-year-old Atkinson is responsible for making the club's travel arrangements and also worked closely in the designing of the Mavericks' first-class locker room and training facilities.

Born Feb. 17, 1949 in Vicksburg, Miss., Atkinson grew up in Longview, Texas. He earned a bachelor's degree and two advanced degrees from Texas-El Paso. While with the Bulls, Atkinson was an instructor at Northwestern University Medical School's Sports Medicine Center. Atkinson, an avid reader, is a fan of western novels, especially those of the late Louis L'Amour. He's also a rodeo fan and avid fisherman.

A registered Hereford cattle and quarter-horse rancher, Atkinson's home is his 70-acre ranch in Athens, Texas. He and wife Elizabeth have a son, Tommy Oron (born 8/29/87), and a daughter, Holley Royan (2/11/89).

BOB KING

Strength & Conditioning Coach

Bob King

Bob King joined the Mavericks in July 1989 as the club's first strength & conditioning coach. King, a certified strength & conditioning specialist, brings to the Mavericks 10 years of teaching experience and 13 years of coaching football and track.

"We accomplished our first-year goals of improving the overall strength and conditioning of the team," King said. "Going into our second year, our plan is to continue those components as well as trying to improve team speed. That was our theme over the summer.

"We attempt to show the athlete that what he does off the court translates into what he does on the court. We do very basketball-specific workouts."

King's responsibilities include supervising post-game aerobic workouts for players who see less than 20 minutes of playing time at home games.

In addition to his duties with the Mavericks, King also serves as head track coach and football defensive coordinator at Trinity Christian Academy in Addison. He also runs a private one-on-one training business, Coach King's Conditioning Camp.

"Last year several of our players got into the program," said Chief Operating Officer/General Manager Norm Sonju. "This summer several more made it a priority and I'm convinced that within a short time all of our players will see the benefits gained from working with someone as conscientious and knowledgeable as Bob."

King, who was born on August 20, 1954 in Norman, Okla., was raised in Dallas. He played football at Texas Tech, where he earned a bachelor's degree in history in 1976. He later added a MSBS degree from Dallas Theological Seminary.

King and his wife Heidi reside in Plano. They have three sons: Aaron (1/30/85) and twins Brady and Curtis (6/15/87).

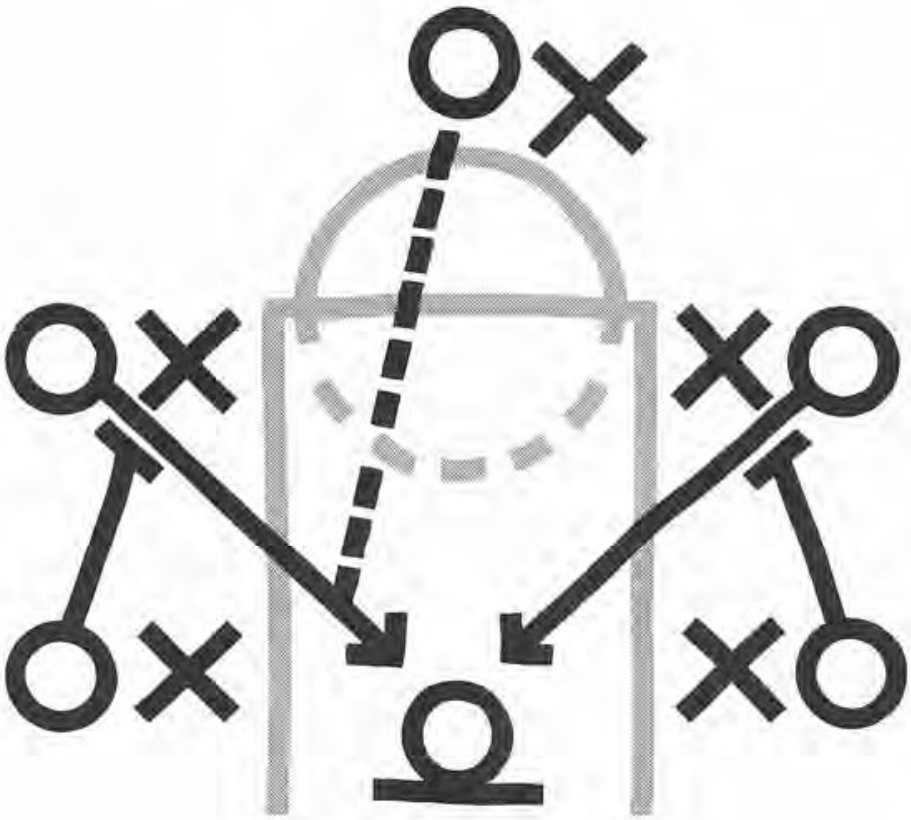
RICHIE ADUBATO'S DEFENSIVE GOALS

After 31 years in coaching, Richie Adubato believes that defense wins games. He also understands the psychology involved in getting his team to believe that defense wins games. Adubato established this checklist of defensive goals to motivate and evaluate:

Allow no more than:
- 100 points
- 25 points in any period
- 5 uncontested layups
- 3 uncontested jump shots

Chalk up at least:
- 30 deflections
- 10 steals
- 5 blocks
- 17 forced turnovers
- 2 charges
- 2 24-second violations

Maybe it's time your telecommunications system had one.



Imagine what it would look like if a basketball team decided to "wing it" out there on the court without a game plan.

Well, that's exactly what many companies do when it comes to planning and designing telecommunications systems. The results are costly.

That's where we come into play. You see, we can show you the most cost effective way to handle your voice, data, networking and office automation needs.

Isn't it time you had a game plan for your telecommunications system?

"I've watched and played against Brad (Davis) and Derek (Harper) for almost three years. I know how Brad does things and that's what I try to do on the floor. The cuts that I make are the same as a lot of the cuts he makes. I try to watch and imitate the way he runs the offense. I just try and play as hard as I can in practice against him and Derek. They definitely help my game. I've got a lot of confidence."

ROLANDO BLACKMAN: MR. FOURTH PERIOD

In 1989-90, Rolando Blackman enhanced his reputation as a clutch performer. Here's a sampling of some of his late-game heroics:

- On 12/15/89, with the Mavericks trailing 80-79 at Philly, Blackman scored all 10 of Dallas' points between 6:43 and 0:58 — the Mavericks won 95-88.
- On 12/20/89 at NJ, Blackman scored eight points in the last 6:16 to give Dallas an 84-78 win.
- On 12/22/89, Blackman scored nine points in the last 6:13 to give the Mavericks a 101-92 win vs. the Clippers.
- On 12/30/89 vs. Denver, Blackman scored 18 fourth period points and brought Dallas back from a 10-point deficit with 2:00 left by sinking three 3-pointers to force OT (Dallas won 116-109).
- On 1/11/90, Blackman scored 16 fourth period points in a 98-87 win over Seattle.
- On 3/29/90 at SA, Blackman scored 10 of his 28 points in the final 2:58 — and hit the game-winner with 14.9 seconds left — to give Dallas a 107-105 win.

College Capsule: Last year was named to the Big Eight All-Decade team for the 1980s, joining Danny Manning, Wayman Tisdale, Steve Stipanovich and Jeff Grayer . . . averaged 15.2 ppg and shot .517 for his KSU career . . . first team all-America as a senior (15 ppg) . . . in NCAAs, hit game-winner in KSU's 50-48 second-round elimination of top-rated Oregon State . . . that shot made the cover of Sports Illustrated and Blackman says he has copies "all over the house" . . . three-time Big Eight defensive player of the year.

Personal Capsule: Blackman is a vice-president of the NBA Players Association and is the Mavericks captain . . . Blackman, who has post-career broadcasting aspirations, did some reporting and on-air work at Dallas public television station KERA last summer . . . Blackman worked as an intern at WFAA-TV (Ch. 8/ABC) during the summer of '88 . . . would eventually like to become a news anchor, a goal which developed when his grandmother made him listen to Walter Cronkite and David Brinkley, hoping Blackman would learn the importance of speaking well . . . studying Spanish language

"I'm making a tape of just Rolando Blackman to show to Joe (Dumars). Blackman might be the most clever guard in the league. We want Joe to adapt some of the (little) things that (Blackman) does. Those little things go along with all the other 'plus' things that he does. He's a clutch player, just a great basketball player."

BRAD DAVIS

NBA Experience: 14th season

Drafted: By the L.A. Lakers on the first round in 1977 (15th overall).

Waiver History: Waived by L.A. Lakers 10/27/78; signed by Montana (WBA); signed by Indiana 2/14/79; waived 10/22/79; signed by Anchorage (CBA); signed by Utah 2/29/80; completed contract and signed with Detroit in 7/80; waived 10/9/80; re-signed by Anchorage; signed by Dallas 12/2/80.

How Acquired: Signed as a free agent on Dec. 2, 1980; most recently signed a two-year contract on 8/9/89.

1989-90 Capsule: Suffered a severe pull of his right hamstring while driving to the basket in the second period of Dallas' regular season finale vs. Charlotte on April 22, and was unable to play in Dallas' playoff series vs. Portland . . . missed eight games (April 3-17) after suffering a torn quadriceps tendon in his right knee during a non-contact shooting drill in practice on April 2 . . . prior to that, Davis had missed just 11 games in 10 seasons with Dallas . . . in the nine games Davis missed last season, Dallas was 4-5 . . . shot 35-of-104 (.337) from three point range, his most three-pointers since 47 in '84-85 . . . in his last 16 games (not counting his four scoreless minutes before being injured vs. Charlotte on April 22), Davis had 7.5 ppg on .543 shooting . . . his .770 free throw percentage marks the first season for him to shoot under .800 since shooting .799 in 1980-81 . . . started Jan. 19 vs. New York in place of Blackman (sprained right ankle) and scored a team-leading 25 points to lead Dallas to a 117-103 win . . . was the first time Davis led the team in points since scoring 19 points on Jan. 7, 1985 at Seattle . . . the 25 points were Davis' most since 25 at Phoenix on Jan. 25, 1988.

Pro Career: Davis says 1990-91 will be his final season . . . became the oldest Maverick ever when he surpassed Austin Carr (32, seven months in 1980) on opening night 1988 . . . 1989-90 was the seventh-straight year in which Davis was the oldest player on the Dallas roster, but Alex English (born 1/5/54) will unseat Davis in English's 1990-91 Dallas debut . . . not since Allan Bristow retired after the '82-83 season has there been a Maverick older than Davis . . . is 10th among active NBA players in assists with 4,413 . . . Dallas is 24-11 over the last two seasons when Davis scores 10-plus points . . . among active NBA players only 16th year pro Moses Malone and 15th year veterans John Lucas, Adrian Dantley, Robert Parish, Alex English and Dennis Johnson have played longer than Davis . . . among NBA guards only Lucas, Rickey Green, Walter Davis, Dennis Johnson, T.R. Dunn and Robert Reid (in order from oldest to youngest) are older than Davis . . . in addition to those six, only six other active players are older than Davis: Parish, English, Malone, Tree Rollins, Jack Sikma and James Edwards . . . Davis is the club's only remaining holdover from the 15-67 1980-81 charter season team . . . is the club's all-time leader in games (770) and assists (4,228) . . . made a club record 10-straight 3-pointers from 1/23/88 through 2/3/88 . . . played in a club record 246 consecutive games from 10/27/84 through 4/18/87 before missing the first six games of '87-88 with a sprained ankle . . . in the 1986 Game Four first round playoff win at Utah, Davis scored a career playoff high 26 points on 8-of-8 shooting, including 5-of-5 3-pointers, an NBA playoff record for most 3-pointers without a miss . . . won five consecutive Favorite Maverick Awards from 1982-86 . . . signed with Dallas on Dec. 2, 1980 off the Anchorage Northern Knights (CBA) roster . . . had to be persuaded to sign by then-Assistant Coach Bob Weiss, himself a former minor leaguer who went on to have a long career . . . soured after four NBA stops and stints in minor league outposts Anchorage and Montana, Davis had planned to play for the Knights until the spring term began at Cal State — Northridge . . . Davis found a home in Dallas and averaged 17.4 ppg, 9.3 assists and shot .593 while starting the final 26 games of 1980-81 . . . he was the starting point guard until giving way to Derek Harper in January 1986.

College Capsule: Declared for the draft following his junior year at Maryland . . . helped the Terrapins to a 65-19 record (.774) during his three years . . . averaged 12.2 points and shot 54 percent.

Personal Capsule: Davis is very active in the community, most notably with the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation . . . wife Michele organizes an annual fashion show to raise money for CF . . . Davis was honored at the 1990 Dallas All Sports Association banquet with a special achievement award for his work in the community . . . rode a 62-mile leg of the "Hotter 'N' Hell Hundred" bicycle event in Wichita Falls last August . . . plans to stay involved in basketball in some capacity when playing days are over . . . avid golfer and card player . . . once had a tryout with the Pittsburgh Pirates as a second baseman . . . Texas Rangers season ticket holder . . . interests include Civil War history, Joseph Wambaugh police novels, Bogart movies and country & western music . . . says if he could be any movie character, he would be Rick Blaine (Humphrey Bogart) from Casablanca . . . Derek Harper says Davis is the hardest working player in the NBA . . . older brother Mickey played five years for the Milwaukee Bucks and younger brother Scott played at Wake Forest . . . wife Michele is a former rock music contract writer who once managed Tina Turner . . . he and Michele reside in Arlington with son Michael (5/11/84) and daughter Erin (3/1/82) . . . given name is Bradley Ernest Davis.

JAMES DONALDSON

NBA Experience: In 11th season.

Drafted: By Seattle on the fourth round in 1979 (73rd overall).

Trade History: Traded by Seattle with Greg Kelser, Mark Radford, a 1984 first-round choice and a 1985 second-round choice to San Diego for Tom Chambers, Al Wood, a 1987 second-round choice and a 1984 third-round choice on 8/18/83; traded by the Clippers to Dallas for Kurt Nimphius on 11/25/85.

How Acquired: From the L.A. Clippers in exchange for Kurt Nimphius on Nov. 25, 1985; signed a five-year contract on 3/14/87.

Pro Capsule: Was playing perhaps the best basketball of his career when he suffered a season-ending knee injury on 3/10/89 at Houston . . . Donaldson ruptured the patellar tendon in his right knee just 3:41 into the game . . . before leaving that game, Donaldson was scoreless with two rebounds — breaking his club record streak of 10-straight points-rebounds double-doubles (15.8 ppg on .685 shooting with 15.7 rebounds per game) and his club record streak of 12-straight games with double-figures rebounds (15.6 rpg) . . . in his last six games prior to the injury, Donaldson averaged 17.3 ppg on .661 shooting with 18.5 rebounds and 2.83 blocked shots . . . in that six-game run were three games of 20-plus rebounds, including a career high-tying 22 rebounds twice (Feb. 16 vs. Miami and March 6 vs. New Jersey) . . . underwent successful surgery to repair the knee on 3/13/89 . . . including the game in which he was injured, the Mavericks were 7-17 after the knee injury and 9-21 in all games without him . . . during the '87-88 season, he saw his regular season consecutive games played streak end at 586 when he was suspended by the NBA for the April 8 Utah game after fighting with Phoenix's Mark West on April 6 . . . played in the '88 NBA All-Star Game at Chicago . . . lifetime has 20-plus rebounds 14 times, including once in the playoffs . . . has two "20-20" games: 20 points and 20 boards on 12/19/86 vs. Denver and 20 points and 22 rebounds on 3/6/89 vs. New Jersey . . . career FG% of .582 is second all-time to Artis Gilmore's .599 . . . needs four field goals in the playoffs to have the 150 needed to qualify for the all-time leaders — his .621 postseason FG% would be the best in NBA history . . . in 1986-87 was fourth in NBA rebounding with a club record 11.9 per game . . . then was hampered in the playoffs by a stress reaction in his lower right leg . . . that ailment sidelined him for Game Four at Seattle . . . it was Donaldson's first "DNP" since February 1981 . . . in 1984-85 led the NBA with a .637 FG%, a figure surpassed in NBA history by only Wilt Chamberlain and Artis Gilmore . . . was the sixth-highest percentage ever . . . once again last season Donaldson failed to attempt a three-point field goal — no other NBA player has played as many as Donaldson's 10 seasons without attempting a three-pointer . . . Donaldson intended to play the '79-80 season in Italy . . . returned to the U.S. after a brief stay and made the Sonics in the '80 camp.

College Capsule: Was second team all-Pac 10 as a senior (11.3 ppg, 10.8 rpg) . . . averaged 12.6 ppg and 11.3 rpg as a junior after totalling 31 games his first two years . . . Cal was only other school to offer a scholarship.

Personal Capsule: Last summer purchased a pro baseball team in Sydney, Australia. In his first act as owner, Donaldson changed the name of the team from the Metros to the Waves and switched the team colors to Mavericks blue and green. "With me it's always something," said Donaldson, who's actually not much of a baseball fan. "It's more an investment than anything, but I'll keep an eye on them." Donaldson, who owns 70 percent of the team, promises to "be basically an absentee owner." . . . Eligibles, a local magazine for singles, is another of Donaldson's investments . . . he opened The Donaldson Clinic, a sports medicine/physical therapy facility in suburban Seattle last year . . . took zoology and

DEREK HARPER

NBA Experience: In eighth season

Drafted: By Dallas on the first-round in 1983 (11th overall); pick, which originally belonged to Atlanta, was acquired from Cleveland in Whitehead/Washington deal on 10/30/80. On 4/8/89 signed a contract to play through the 1995-96 season; on 9/8/90 signed an amendment to that contract, reworking the payment schedule.

1989-90 Capsule: Averaged 18.0 ppg, becoming just the third player in NBA history (also Alex English and Kevin McHale) to increase his scoring average in each of his first seven NBA seasons . . . no NBA player has ever improved his scoring average in each of his first eight seasons . . . among NBA point guards only Isiah Thomas, Magic Johnson, Kevin Johnson and Mark Price had higher scoring averages . . . for the season Harper held the opponents' starting point guards to just 12.6 points on .416 shooting . . . finished the season strong, scoring 20-plus points in 19 of his last 28 games (20.9 ppg on .504 shooting) . . . had 20-plus points a career-best 37 times (won 23), 30-plus points a career-best four times (won 1), and scored a career-high 42 points (the only 40-plus game of his career) in Dallas' 144-140 triple-OT loss to Portland on Dec. 29 . . . was named to NBA's second-team all-defense squad for the second time (also 1986-87) . . . Harper is the only Maverick ever picked "All-D" . . . had 187 steals, breaking his club record (172 last season) for the sixth-straight season . . . his 2.28 steals per game ranked fifth in the NBA . . . is the club's all-time leader in steals with 1,086 . . . prior to the Nov. 29 coaching change, Harper was averaging 12.6 ppg on .402 shooting, but in the 71 games after Richie Adubato took over, Harper had 18.8 ppg on .499 shooting . . . from Feb. 13 through March 10 set a club-record by making at least one three-pointer in 12-straight games (18-of-53, .340) . . . won his first Favorite Maverick Award, based on season-long fan balloting, and was selected by the media as the Sony Tape Mavericks Player of the Month in January (19.3 ppg on .522 shooting with 7.0 assists, 3.4 steals, in 39.1 minutes), March (21.2 ppg on .492 shooting with 7.5 assists in 37.3 minutes) and April (21 ppg on .509 shooting with 9.1 assists and 3.1 steals in 36.5 minutes).

Pro Capsule: Harper, who was the only Maverick to play in all 82 games last season, has started 245 of Dallas' last 246 regular season games (his only miss being 2/22/89 at Denver due to tendinitis in his right knee) . . . entering 1990-91 has played in 114 consecutive games, the team's longest active streak . . . has missed just nine games in his seven-year career . . . among current starting NBA backcourts, only the Lakers' Magic Johnson/Byron Scott tandem (together since 1984) has been in place longer than Harper/Blackman . . . assumed the starting point guard duties 1/22/86 after backing up Brad Davis for two and a half years . . . in 1988-89 broke his own

WHAT THEY'RE SAYING ABOUT DEREK HARPER

- "Derek Harper is the best defender in the league on the ball, bar none."
  — Indiana Pacers Head Coach Dick Versace
- "(Derek Harper) is one of the few point guards in the league who can disrupt an offense."
  — Houston Rockets Head Coach Don Chaney
- "Derek Harper is not only a great defensive player, but his offense has really come on. He's playing well on offense because he's always up there in steals. You always have to be aware of him."
  — Magic Johnson
- "Harper is an outstanding defensive guard. He makes a lot of things happen and most of those things are bad for the player he's going against."
  — New Jersey Nets Head Coach Bill Fitch
- "Derek has done a tremendous job in the clutch. I want to know if there's a better defensive point guard in the league. I don't think you can find one. His energy level and tenacity are absolutely unbelievable."
  — Mavericks Head Coach Richie Adubato

records for three-point field goals made and attempted by shooting 99-of-278 (.356) . . . placed fifth in the 1989 Long Distance Shootout on All-Star Saturday in Houston . . . ranks 10th all-time in the NBA in three-point makes (360) and attempts (1060) . . . had a career high/club record 18 assists vs. Boston on 12/29/88 . . . was the hero of Dallas' 1986 Game Three 110-108 playoff win vs. LA in the conference semi-finals — had 24 points and made 3-pointers with 46 seconds left (to tie it 105-all) and three seconds left to win it . . . despite his defensive aggressiveness, has fouled out of just six games in seven years . . . was dubiously thrust into the national spotlight on 5/6/84 in Game Four of the conference semis vs. the Lakers . . . Harper mistakenly thought Dallas was ahead 109-108 when it was actually 108-all . . . he dribbled out the last 0:06 of the game and the Lakers went on to win in OT, 122-115 . . . Harper showed great maturity the way he handled himself with reporters after the game and it was almost exactly two years later when he beat the Lakers in Game Three of the 1986 conference semis with the late three-pointers.

"Most opponents and coaches will tell you that Fat Lever is one of the fiercest competitors in the NBA. He has all these plus factors — great character, fierce competitor, best rebounding guard in the league, great defensive player, great assist man, good scorer — but the best thing of all in our situation is he can play both (guard spots)." — Richie Adubato

NBA Experience: In fifth season

Drafted: By Dallas on the first round in 1986 (seventh overall) . . . signed a five-year contract on 10/2/86 and a three-year extension on 8/31/89.

1989-90 Capsule: Started the first six games of the season and was averaging 17.5 points on .422 shooting with an NBA-leading 16.8 rebounds before being suspended on Nov. 16 by Dr. Dave Lewis, medical director of the ASAP Family Treatment Program of Van Nuys, Calif., for 33 games for noncompliance with his personalized aftercare program . . . the Mavericks were informed Jan. 22 by Lewis that Tarpley had been removed from the NBA's suspended list . . . Dallas was 17-16 during the 67-day suspension . . . in 39 games after his return (beginning Jan. 23 vs. Washington), Tarpley averaged 16.7 ppg on .456 shooting with 12.5 rebounds . . . Dallas was 27-12 in games Tarpley played following the suspension . . . overall Dallas was 29-16 with Tarpley and 18-19 without him . . . was suspended without pay for two games (April 7 vs. Chicago and April 9 at the Lakers) after missing practice April 6 and failing to notify team officials . . . averaged 13.1 rebounds for the season — if he had met the minimum standards (70 games or 800 rebounds) to qualify for the league lead, that would have placed him second in the NBA to Akeem Olajuwon's 14.0 rebounds . . . April 1 vs. Milwaukee scored 24 points with a career-high 25 rebounds . . . those 25 rebounds (a club-record 12 coming on the offensive glass) are the most ever by a Maverick in a regulation game (Donaldson grabbed a club-record 27 boards in Dallas' 144-140 triple-OT loss to Portland on Dec. 29, 1989) . . . was primarily a sub for his first three seasons in the NBA (starting just 16 times in his first 175 games in the league), but started 35 of 45 games in 1989-90 . . . in February was voted by the media as the Sony Tape Mavericks Player of the Month after averaging 17.8 points with 12.5 rebounds . . . in his 45 games had 10-plus rebounds 34 times, including 15-plus rebounds 18 times and 20-plus rebounds three times.

Pro Career: Won the 1987-88 NBA Sixth Man award by a 67-13 margin over Utah's Thurl Bailey . . . ranked seventh among NBA rebounders that season with 11.8 boards in just 28.5 minutes, becoming the first reserve in NBA history to finish among the league's top 10 rebounders . . . was suspended for 49 games (Dallas was 17-32) in 1988-89 for violating the provisions of his individual aftercare program . . . that was considered "strike two" in the NBA's anti-drug program since Tarpley also received treatment in the summer of 1987 . . . also missed 14 games in 1988-89 after undergoing arthroscopic knee surgery to repair torn cartilage in his left knee, an injury suffered in a game at Phoenix on Nov. 9, 1989 . . . set a Mavericks season record with 43 double-doubles in 1987-88 . . . named to the 1986-87 all-rookie team . . . as a rookie was averaging 3.8 ppg on .364 shooting with 4.3 rpg in mid-January when his playing time picked up . . . Tarpley averaged 10.2 ppg on .503 shooting with 9.2 rpg in the final 43 games . . . led the NBA in rebounds-per-48 minutes with 18.2 in 1986-87 and 20.0 in 1987-88 . . . Tarpley has seven of the 10 games of 20 points/20 rebounds in Mavericks history . . . had two 20-rebound games vs. the Lakers in the 1988 conference finals, making him the only NBA player with more than one game of 20-plus boards in the 1988 postseason . . . in 1988 was MVP of the Southern California Summer Pro League.

"My intention is to come into camp, prove to the Mavericks, prove to Richie (Adubato) and prove to everyone I deserve 20 minutes a game . . . If I can reach that goal, I think the Mavericks will see there's a lot I can do for them. (Last year) I had a poor season. There were several reasons; lack of playing time, lack of conditioning on my part. This year I'm going to be ready."

"(Bob McCann) is a big forward, but he's not really big for his position if you talk about defending guys who are 6-10. But he uses his body very well. He's strong, aggressive and physical. We had a guy in New York, Truck Robinson, who was about the same size as Bob, and wound up being an excellent rebounder for his size. Bob can become the same type of player."

WHAT TO LOOK FOR IN 1990-91

THE MAVERICKS' all-time record reaching the .500 mark for the first time since they were 1-1 on Oct. 14, 1980. Entering their 11th season the Mavericks have an all-time record of 405-415 (.494), so if the Mavericks reach 10 games over .500 at any point in the season they will be back to even all-time. For the Mavericks to be at .500 or above all-time at the end of the season, they must post a record of at least 46-36.

DEREK HARPER becoming the first player in NBA history to improve his scoring average in each of his first eight seasons. By averaging 18.0 ppg last season after 17.3 ppg in 1988-89, Harper joined Alex English and Kevin McHale as the only players ever to increase their scoring averages in each of their first seven NBA seasons.

ALEX ENGLISH scoring his 25,000th point. English, who ranks eighth on the all-time scoring list, needs just 150 points to reach the 25,000-point milestone.

ROLANDO BLACKMAN AND ALEX ENGLISH scoring 1,000 points. Blackman and English are two of just nine players who have active streaks of eight or more seasons of 1,000-plus points. Here's the list: Moses Malone (14 yrs), Robert Parish (13), English (12), Blackman (9), Tom Chambers (9), Magic Johnson (9), Kevin McHale (9) and Isiah Thomas (9).

THE MAVERICKS continuing to improve their defense. Last season the Mavericks held their opponents to a club record-low 102.2 ppg — fourth in the NBA and 2.5 ppg under the previous club record of 104.7 ppg set in 1988-89. In 1985-86, the year before Richie Adubato joined Dallas as an assistant coach, the Mavericks gave up 114.2 ppg (21st in the NBA). Since then, Dallas has improved to 110.4 ppg (14th) in '86-87, 104.9 ppg (6th) in '87-88, 104.7 (4th) in '88-89 and 102.2 ppg (4th) last season.

JAMES DONALDSON attempting his first career three-pointer. The 7-2, 275-pound Donaldson has played longer than any other active NBA player — 10 seasons — without trying a three-pointer.

ROLANDO BLACKMAN breaking Mark Aguirre's team career scoring record. Entering this season Blackman has 13,679 career points, 251 points shy of Aguirre's team record of 13,930.

JAMES DONALDSON breaking Sam Perkins' team career rebound record. Entering this season Donaldson has 3,592 career rebounds as a Maverick, 175 shy of Perkins' team record of 3,767.

HERB WILLIAMS AND FAT LEVER scoring their 10,000th points. Entering this season Williams needs 464 points for 10,000 career points, while Lever is 498 points shy of that milestone.

DEREK HARPER breaking the club steals record for the seventh-straight season. Last season Harper had 187 steals (2.28 per game, fifth in the NBA), breaking his record of 172 set in '88-89.

THE MAVERICKS winning in Boston. The Mavericks have won in every NBA city except Boston. This season they'll get their shot at the Boston Garden on Sunday, January 6.

FAT LEVER AND ALEX ENGLISH potentially coming off the bench. Lever has started his last 329 games, while English has started his last 524 contests. Speaking of streaks regarding starters, Rolando Blackman and Derek Harper have been Dallas' starting backcourt since January 1986. Only the Lakers' tandem of Magic Johnson and Byron Scott, who've started together since 1984, has been together longer.

BROADCAST INFORMATION

TELEVISION

KTVT (Ch. 11), in its sixth season with the Mavericks, will once again broadcast 25 road games. Twenty-one of those games are listed below, with four "wild card" games to be added to the schedule during the season.

All 41 regular season home games will be televised. The Home Sports Entertainment (HSE) network will cablecast 33 home games, while seven home games (and the Nov. 6 game at New York) will be made available on a pay-per-view basis. NBC Sports has chosen the Mavericks' April 7 home game vs. Portland as a possible national game. If NBC airs Philadelphia at Chicago instead, the Mavericks-Portland game will be made available on the pay-per-view network.

RADIO

For the 11th-straight season WBAP (820 AM) is the Mavericks flagship radio station. Due to WBAP's obligation to carry Texas Rangers baseball, upon the date of the first Mavericks-Rangers conflict in April, the Mavericks will move for the rest of the regular season and playoffs to KRLD Radio (1080 AM). Each broadcast begins with a comprehensive 40-minute pregame show. A call-in show, Mavericks Overtime with host David Hatchett, will be heard on WBAP following weekday games (except those played in the Pacific time zone). The Norm Sonju Show, a call-in format, is heard on WBAP each Wednesday from 6-7:30 p.m.

THE TALENT

Allen Stone, in his 10th season as a Mavericks broadcaster and eighth on the club's telecasts, will handle the play-by-play responsibilities on the KTVT (Ch. 11) and HSE broadcasts. Stone will be joined by second-year partners Bob Ortegel on HSE and Jim Haller on KTVT. Ortegel, the former head basketball coach at Drake University, has nine years experience as a television basketball analyst. Haller coached current NBA players Vinnie Johnson, Terry Teagle and Micheal Williams in his tenure as Baylor's head coach. Kevin McCarthy will again serve as studio anchor on the KTVT broadcasts. He will be joined by a rotating crew of studio commentators, including Chief Operating Officer/GM Norm Sonju, VP/Basketball Operations Rick Sund and Director of Scouting Keith Grant. Ted Davis is in his third season as the club's radio announcer. Stone will join Davis as radio analyst on selected games which are not televised on KTVT or HSE.

THE "MOODY MADNESS" GAME

Dallas 105, Seattle 104 (OT)
April 26, 1984

The final game of the first-round series vs. Seattle was played at SMU's Moody Coliseum due to a conflict with World Championship Tennis at Reunion Arena and the 9,007 on hand saw the most dramatic win in Mavericks history . . . Seattle had its biggest lead at 93-86 with 2:08 left and led by 95-89 with 48 seconds showing . . . Jack Sikma had fouled out with 1:29 to go . . . a pair of Pat Cummings free throws made it 95-91 with 47 seconds left . . . Dallas forced Seattle into a 10-second violation with 36 seconds left . . . with 22 seconds remaining, Rolando Blackman stole a Steve Hawes pass and took it in for a dunk, drawing Dallas to within 95-93 . . . with 21 seconds left, Hawes was unable to make the inbounds pass after a Seattle timeout and Dallas got it back on the 5-second call . . . Blackman made a jumper from the top of the key with 15 seconds left to make it 95-all . . . Danny Vranes missed a tip-in at the buzzer and the game went to OT . . . Dallas, which never trailed in the OT, led 103-97 with 1:37 left . . . Seattle then outscored Dallas 7-2 with Tom Chambers' tip at 0:01 cutting the Mavericks lead to 105-104 . . . after a Dallas timeout, Jay Vincent was set to inbound the ball while Chambers guarded him . . . Vincent, figuring Chambers couldn't get off a shot in one second, lined the ball off Chambers' chest . . . Chambers threw up a desperation shot which missed everything . . . referee Mike Mathis signalled the game was over and the Mavericks left the court in celebration, despite 0:01 still showing on the clock . . . for the next 14 minutes, Mathis, Jake O'Donnell, and alternate Tommy Nunez discussed the remaining second . . . O'Donnell's ruling was that Mathis' whistle was inadvertent and the Sonics were given the ball out of bounds with one second . . . Mark Aguirre and Kurt Nimphius kept Chambers from getting a lob attempt and the game ended.

REUNION ARENA

As Reunion Arena enters its second decade, the most noticeable change will be the $5 million Sony Jumbotron JTS-16 scoreboard/replay system. The board, which features the finest video resolution available and is the largest of its kind, is not the only improvement that fans will find at Reunion this season, however. The Big "D" Board, which tracks rebounds, blocked shots and steals, has been added, while message boards throughout the arena have been upgraded to give fans better access to statistics, out-of-town scores and other information. The 19-inch monitors located at each concession stand have been replaced with 27-inch screens.

The Mavericks and Reunion Arena management have been committed to upgrading the quality of the facilities since Reunion Arena opened in April 1980. In April 1987 the Reunion Parking Center opened. The five-level, 2,100-space parking garage expanded parking capacity by 1,500 spaces. Also additional concession space and restrooms were added to the lower level mall near section 127.

Reunion Arena has grown into one of the busiest and most versatile entertainment facilities nationwide. Reunion Arena is home for the Mavericks, the MISL's Dallas Sidekicks, the Dallas Texans of the Arena Football League and the Southwest Conference Basketball Classic each spring. It was also the site of the NBA All-Star Game and NCAA "Final Four" in 1986. Approximately 165 various events are scheduled for the coming year ranging from truck pulls and ice shows to a circus and numerous concerts.

Reunion Arena is equipped with the finest safety features. There's an easy-in, easy-out entrance and exit system and each section has its own entrance with the upper level only 51 steps away.

Behind the scenes features of Reunion include modern rehabilitation and training facilities specially designed with rather tall athletes in mind. Eight-foot doorways and shower heads were installed to eliminate any off the court bumps and bruises.

PLAYER PERSONNEL GUIDE

ACTIVE LIST

The maximum number of active players is 12, the minimum is 11. At no time shall a team be permitted to dress fewer than eight players for a regular season game or nine for a playoff game. During the offseason and training camp, teams may carry no more than 20 active players.

INJURED LIST

A player transferred to the injured list due to injury or illness, must stay there for no fewer than five games.

TEN-DAY CONTRACT

On or after the 55th day following the first game, a team may sign a player to a 10-day contract. This procedure may be used only to replace a player assigned to the injured list. No player may be signed to more than two 10-day agreements.

TRADING DEADLINE

No trades are permitted after 8 p.m. Dallas time on February 21, 1991. From that point to the end of the regular season, player additions must be made through the waiver procedure, or by signing free agents.

WAIVERS

From August 15 to the end of the regular season, clubs may claim waived players within 48 hours after notice. Players waived at any other time, may be claimed within 10 days. If no teams claim the waived player, he becomes a free agent. If more than one club claims a waived player, the one with the lesser record at that time claims the player.

GUARANTEED CONTRACT DATE

On the 56th day of the regular season, all player contracts become guaranteed for the remainder of the season.

RENUNCIATION OF AMATEUR ELIGIBILITY

A person whose high school class has graduated shall become eligible for the college draft if he renounces his intercollegiate basketball eligibility by written notice to the NBA at least 45 days prior to the draft. Prior to 45 days before the draft, teams may not make direct or indirect contact with players who have eligibility left. Clubs may contact players without remaining eligibility, but may not discuss compensation.

HISTORY

TWO REDS ARE BETTER THAN ONE.

The Dallas Morning News tips its cap to our own Dave Smith, 1990 Red Smith Award winner. He's the first editor so honored, and the second Morning News recipient. The first, of course, was Blackie. Which makes us the first, and only, paper with two Red Smith winners on staff. And that makes us very proud. So congrats, Dave, you deserve this moment in the sun. Now get back to work.

1989-90: THE YEAR-IN-REVIEW

NOV. 3 — L.A. Lakers 102, Dallas 98. Dallas begins its 10th season in the NBA the same way it began its ninth season, by losing at home to the Lakers, this time 102-98. It is the Lakers' first game in the post-Kareem Abdul-Jabbar era.

NOV. 7 — Sacramento 96, Dallas 94. Dallas, which started each of its previous nine seasons 1-1, drops to 0-2 with a 96-94 loss at Sacramento. The loss comes despite Roy Tarpley's game-high 22 rebounds — the first time the Mavericks have ever lost a regular season game when Tarpley grabs 20-plus rebounds.

NOV. 10 — Portland 99, Dallas 91. The Mavericks drop to 0-2 at home for the first time in club history with a 99-91 loss to Portland. The loss gives Dallas a club record-tying third-straight game of being held under 100 points at home (also Feb. 6-14, 1981 and Dec. 16-23, 1980). Record is 1-3.

NOV. 12 — L.A. Lakers 107, Dallas 98. The Mavericks lose their seventh-straight game vs. the Lakers and fall to 1-4 overall for the first time since 1981-82 with a 107-98 loss. Record is 1-4.

NOV. 15 — Roy Tarpley is arrested in North Dallas for driving while intoxicated and resisting arrest.

NOV. 16 — Dr. Dave Lewis, medical director of the ASAP Family Treatment Program, suspends Roy Tarpley indefinitely without pay following Tarpley's arrest the night before. Lewis tells reporters, "It's clear that alcohol was involved last night. That is non-compliance with aftercare. Roy will be suspended until he is fully in compliance with his personal aftercare program."

NOV. 18 — Dallas 100, Miami 99. The Mavericks rally from an 18-point second period deficit, and defeat the Miami Heat 100-99 on a jump shot by Rolando Blackman with :13 remaining. With Dallas trailing 99-98, Blackman loses Kevin Edwards and pumps twice before nailing a 16-foot jumper from the left corner that puts Dallas on top with just :12.9 remaining. Record is 4-4.

NOV. 25 — Seattle 117, Dallas 70. The Mavericks suffer their second-worst defeat in club history, a 117-70 loss to Seattle in Reunion Arena. The game will turn out to be John MacLeod's last as head coach of the Mavericks. The Sonics outscore Dallas 60-29 in the second half — tying the fewest points the Mavericks have ever scored in a second half (also 29 pts. at Houston on 2/4/81). The 47-point defeat ranks as the second-biggest in Mavericks history (biggest is 48 points — 116-68 — at Houston on 2/4/81), and the Mavericks' 70 points are its second-fewest in history (fewest are 68 points at Houston on 2/4/81). Record is 5-6.

NOV. 29 — John MacLeod is dismissed as head coach. "The Mavericks have a multitude of problems," said Vice President/Basketball Operations Rick Sund. "We want to address those problems one at a time. Certainly John has not caused those problems, but at this particular time, in order to get the team turned around, we feel a coaching change is necessary." MacLeod posted a record of 96-79 (.549) in two-plus seasons in Dallas.

Richie Adubato took over as head coach on Nov. 29, 1989. The Mavericks were 42-29 under Adubato and won 19 of their final 22 home games. Dallas allowed just 102.2 ppg, breaking the club defense record, and won 15 games when trailing after three periods.

NOV. 29 — Dallas 102, Charlotte 83. Following the release of John MacLeod, Richie Adubato takes over as the interim head coach. The Mavericks jump out to a commanding 31-18 lead and run away from Charlotte to win 102-83. The Hornets shoot only 31.7 percent for the game and are 0-for-12 on three pointers. Record is 6-6.

DEC. 4 — Richie Adubato, who assumed control of the team when John MacLeod was dismissed on Nov. 29, is named coach for the remainder of the season.

DEC. 15 — Dallas 95, Philadelphia 88. The Mavericks tie the score for the first time since the tip-off on Blackman's jumper with 5:48 remaining in the third and go on to win 95-88 in Philadelphia. With the Mavericks trailing 80-79, Blackman scores all 10 of Dallas' points between 6:43 and 0:58. The Mavericks are down by three at 88-85 with 2:38 to go in the game. They then score the last 10 points of the game (five each by Harper and Blackman) to record the victory. Record is 10-10.

DEC. 19 — Charlotte 102, Dallas 97. For the first time in 13 meetings against one of the four new expansion teams (Dallas has yet to play Orlando), the Mavericks lose, falling to the Hornets 102-97 in the Charlotte Coliseum. With the score tied at 95 with :37 remaining, the Hornets' Dell Curry knocks down a jumper to give the Hornets the lead. Dallas has a chance to tie with :24.2 left, but Derek Harper misses a pair of free throws to seal the loss for Dallas. For the game Dallas shoots just 16-of-28 (.571) from the line. Record is 10-12.

DEC. 20 — Dallas 84, New Jersey 78. The Mavericks conclude a six-game, nine-day eastern road trip with an 84-78 win in New Jersey. The 84 points are the fewest ever scored by Dallas in a win. The Nets' 78 points are the third-fewest ever allowed by Dallas and are the fewest ever allowed by Dallas on the road. The 162 combined points represent the lowest two-team total ever in a Mavericks game. Record is 11-12.

DEC. 27 — Dallas 114, Atlanta 101. The Mavericks win their fourth-straight game, this time 114-101 in Reunion Arena. The Mavericks take a 10-point lead with two minutes left in the first period, increase it to 12 points by halftime, to 17 with 1:18 to go in the third period and to 22 with 6:36 left in the fourth period. In the process the Mavericks score 114 points, breaking a run 18-straight games under 110 points — Dallas' longest run under 110 in its history. Record is 14-12.

DEC. 29 — Portland 144, Dallas 140 (3 OT). The Mavericks play the first triple-OT game in club history and 28 club and arena records fall or are tied in the Mavericks' 144-140 loss to Portland in Reunion Arena. The Blazers go up 143-138 in the third-OT on a three-point play by Terry Porter with :20.9 seconds to play. The Mavericks led 129-124 with 2:29 left in the second OT after Derek Harper, who scores a game-high/career-high 42 points, connects on back-to-back three-pointers. However, the Blazers score five-straight points, capped by a layup by Wayne Cooper with 1:02 to play in the second OT, to send the game into the third OT. The Mavericks, who led by as many as 14 points with 4:46 to play in the third period, trail 106-105 in regulation when Blackman connects on a 19-footer from the right corner to put Dallas ahead by one. That lead was expanded to three, 109-106 with :23.4 to go in regulation, after two free throws by Derek Harper. The Blazers send the game into OT when Clyde Drexler (who led the Blazers with 32 points) hits a fall-away three-pointer with :21.1 to play in regulation. James Donaldson finishes with 19 points and sets club records/career highs with 27 rebounds and 58 minutes. At 3:10 the game ranks as the longest in Mavericks history. Record is 14-13.

DEC. 30 — Dallas 116, Denver 109 (OT). Rolando Blackman scores 13 of his game-high 29 points in the final 5:50 of regulation, including a career-high three three-pointers in the last two minutes of regulation, to rally Dallas from a 10-point deficit to a 116-109 overtime win over the Nuggets in Reunion Arena. Dallas trails 101-91 with 2:00 left in regulation when Blackman hits back-to-back three-pointers to reduce the Denver lead to 101-97. With Dallas trailing 105-102 with :09.4 remaining, Blackman connects on his third three-pointer to send the game into overtime. Record is 15-13.

JAN. 5 — Philadelphia 104, Dallas 79. The Sixers hold Dallas to just 79 points, winning 104-79. With the Mavericks trailing 18-16 with 4:09 left in the first period, the Philadelphia 76ers go on a 21-0 run, the most consecutive points ever allowed by the Mavericks. By the time James Donaldson ends the run by sinking a free throw with 9:32 left in the first half, Dallas trails 39-16. Record is 16-15.

JAN. 19 — Dallas 117, New York 103. Brad Davis starts in place of the injured Rolando Blackman (sprained right ankle) and scores 25 points to help propel Dallas to a 117-103 upset over the Knicks, who enter the game with a 26-12 record. Led by Davis, who hits 11 of his 14 shots for the game, Dallas outscores the Knicks 35-22 in the second period to take a 59-54 lead at halftime. Dallas remains hot (Dallas finishes the game with a .529 shooting percentage) and builds a 15-point lead with 5:01 to play. Davis' 25 points mark the first time for him to lead Dallas in scoring since Jan. 7, 1985 at Seattle when he scored 19 points. Adrian Dantley, the 10th-leading scorer in NBA history, surpasses the 23,000-point mark by scoring 23. Record is 18-20.

JAN. 20 — Dallas 105, Cleveland 96 (OT). Derek Harper scores a game-high 28 points and hits 11 of his last 14 field goals to lead Dallas to a 105-96 overtime win over Cleveland before a sold-out Reunion Arena. The Cavaliers tie the game on a 17-foot jumper by Craig Ehlo with :0.5 remaining. Harper takes over in the overtime, scoring nine-straight points (tying the Mavericks record for most points in an OT) to extend the Mavericks advantage from two to five points. Earlier in the day, Dantley signs an amendment to his contract allowing him to become an unrestricted free agent at the end of the season. In return for agreeing to waive Dantley after the season, the Mavericks are excused from their obligation to pay the final year ('90-91) of his contract. Record is 19-20.

JAN. 23 — Dallas 129, Washington 105. Roy Tarpley is removed from the suspended list by Dr. Dave Lewis and sees his first game action since Nov. 14 against Seattle. He plays all 12 minutes of the final period, scoring 11 points on 5-of-8 shooting and grabbing four boards as Dallas downs Washington 129-105. Derek Harper and Rolando Blackman are a combined nine-of-nine shooting in the first period as Dallas shoots 82.6 percent and scores 45 points. Dallas increases its lead to 73-46 at the half. Dallas' 71.8 percent for the first half ties a team record. A fresh Tarpley enters in the fourth to a mostly positive crowd reaction and seals the victory for the Mavericks. Record is 20-20.

JAN. 26 — Dallas 106, Sacramento 93. Former Mavericks coach Dick Motta makes his return to Reunion Arena as coach of the Sacramento Kings, but the Mavericks spoil his return with a 106-93 victory. Record is 21-20.

JAN. 31 — Dallas 98, Houston 91. The Mavericks come from behind and win their seventh-straight, 98-91 over the Houston Rockets in Reunion Arena. The seven-game winning streak is Dallas' longest winning streak since winning a club-record 11-straight from Feb. 14 through March 4, 1988. The Rockets lead 88-83 with 6:35 remaining in the game, but do not score again until Akeem Olajuwon connects on a free throw with 32.7 seconds remaining. In the meantime the Mavericks take over thanks to a 12-0 run that is capped by a Rolando Blackman jumper with 1:48 remaining to put Dallas up 92-88. Blackman surpasses 13,000 career points. Record is 24-20.

FEB. 3 — Portland 131, Dallas 100. Adrian Dantley suffers a non-displaced fracture of his right fibula 35 seconds into the game, as the Trail Blazers go on to rout Dallas 131-100 in the Portland Coliseum. The loss snaps Dallas' season-best seven-game winning streak. The Blazers connect on 57.5 percent of their shots, including .650 from beyond 16 feet, as Portland's starting five combines for 98 points on .597 shooting. Dantley's injury proved to be season-ending. Record is 24-22.

FEB. 8 — Dallas 90, Minnesota 77. Playing their final game before the All-Star break, the Mavericks survive several scares to take down the Minnesota Timberwolves 90-77 before a sellout crowd at Reunion Arena. Minnesota's are the fewest points scored vs. Dallas this season and ties as the second-fewest in club history. Record is 26-22.

FEB. 11 — Rolando Blackman, who is named to the All-Star team as a replacement for the injured Karl Malone (sprained ankle), comes off the West bench to score 15 points on 7-of-9 shooting in 21 minutes. The East wins 130-113. Blackman starts the second half in place of John Stockton, who has the flu.

FEB. 13 — Dallas 103, San Antonio 96. The Mavericks play their first game since the All-Star break, and defeat the Spurs, who enter with a 32-14 record, 103-96 in Reunion Arena. With the Mavericks trailing 83-82 with 6:18 to play, Derek Harper hits three-pointers on consecutive trips down the floor to put Dallas up 88-83 with 5:21 remaining. On the next trip down the court, Harper converts a layup to complete a 48-second span in which Harper outscores the Spurs 8-0, bringing Dallas from seven down to one ahead. Record is 27-22.

FEB. 17 — Dallas 135, Orlando 108. The Mavericks open up a 45-31 lead after one period, and then cruise to their ninth-straight home win, 135-108 over the Orlando Magic. This will be the widest margin of victory all season for Dallas. The Mavericks, who record their fourth-straight win and 11th win in their last 13 games, never lead by fewer than 23 points in the second half. Record is 28-22.

FEB. 27 — New York 110, Dallas 87. The Mavericks come in having won 7-of-8 and 14-of-17 games, but cannot overcome .378 shooting and lose before a national TNT audience, 110-87 in Madison Square Garden. Leading 78-67 with 10:19 to play, the Knicks score on 11-straight possessions to open up a 27-point lead (98-71) with 5:59 to play. The loss spoils Richie Adubato's first trip into Madison Square Garden as Mavericks head coach. Adubato buys 25 tickets to the game for friends and family. Record is 31-24.

MARCH 2 — Dallas 108, Phoenix 102. Already without Adrian Dantley (broken right leg), the Mavericks play without Roy Tarpley (flu) and James Donaldson (sore right ankle) and still pull out a 108-102 win over the Suns before a sold-out Reunion Arena. The win comes against a Suns team which entered with the longest win streak in the NBA, 10 games. Dallas' starting backcourt does the biggest damage, combining for 49 points on 23-of-39 shooting (Rolando Blackman scores 24 points). Record is 32-25.

MARCH 7 — L.A. Lakers 103, Dallas 91. The Lakers hit eight three-pointers and stop the Mavericks' 10-game home winning streak, 103-91. The setback is Dallas' eighth-straight regular season loss to the Lakers. Record is 32-27.

MARCH 10 — Houston 105, Dallas 95. Rolando Blackman is lost for the last 17 minutes of the game with a strained left groin, and the Rockets take advantage and hand Dallas its third-straight loss, 105-95. Record is 32-28.

MARCH 14 — Dallas 113, Boston 102. Sam Perkins scores a game-high 30 points and holds Larry Bird to 21 points (nine fewer than his career average vs. Dallas) on nine-of-21 shooting as the Mavericks down Boston, 113-102 in Reunion Arena. The Mavericks receive great play from their frontcourt players (Sam Perkins, Roy Tarpley, James Donaldson and Herb Williams), who after being "counseled" by Richie Adubato, respond by scoring 85 of Dallas' 113 points. Record is 33-28.

MARCH 18 — Detroit 114, Dallas 84. The Mavericks shoot just .363 and Derek Harper and Rolando Blackman combine to score just 15 points on 4-of-21 shooting as the Pistons win easily, 114-84 before a sellout crowd of 21,454 in the Palace of Auburn Hills. The Mavericks are held under 90 points for a club-record 10th time this season (record was seven in 1980-81) and receive a season-low three points on 1-of-11 shooting from Blackman. The win is Detroit's 11th-straight and 24th victory in its last 25 games. Dallas' record is 34-29.

MARCH 25 — Dallas 98, Detroit 96 (OT). Derek Harper scores five points in the last 16.8 seconds to lead the Mavericks to a 98-96 overtime victory over the Detroit Pistons, who enter with the league's best record at 51-16. The Mavericks, who trail by as many as six points in the OT (92-86 with 2:05 remaining), are behind 95-90 with :30.1 to go when Brad Davis connects on a three-pointer. After Bill Laimbeer hits 1-of-2 free throw attempts to increase the Detroit advantage to 96-93, Harper hits a three-pointer with :16.8 remaining to tie the score at 96. Then, Harper and Herb Williams trap Isiah Thomas. Harper pesters Thomas, and Williams flicks the ball away with :15.5 to go. Harper picks up the loose ball and races downcourt to score the winning basket with 8.1 seconds to play (that's Dallas' first lead since 32-31 with 3:16 left in the second period). The Mavericks trail by nine points (their biggest deficit of the game) with 7:25 to play in regulation, but Harper scores eight points down the stretch, including a 20-footer with :23.0 remaining in regulation that knotted the score and sent the game into OT. Record is 38-29.

MARCH 29 — Dallas 109, San Antonio 105. The Mavericks overcome a 16-point deficit and go on to win in San Antonio, 109-105. Rolando Blackman, who finishes with a team-leading 28 points, scores 10 points in the final 2:56, including a runner in the lane with 14.5 seconds remaining to make the score 107-105 and give Dallas a lead it does not relinquish. The comback ties the second-largest road comback ever. The Mavericks have won six-straight, eight-of-nine and 23-of-32. Record is 40-29.

MARCH 30 — Minnesota 84, Dallas 82. The Timberwolves' Sam Mitchell hits a follow-up lay-in at the buzzer to snap Mavericks' six-game winning streak in shocking style, 84-82. The Mavericks trail 81-74 with 4:13 to play before going on an 8-1 run, in which Dallas holds Minnesota without a field goal for 4:12. With the score tied at 82 after a Minnesota timeout, the Timberwolves inbound from halfcourt with :5.0 remaining. Tony Campbell, who scores a game-high 23 points, misses a jumper, but Mitchell grabs the rebound and follows it in as time expires. The Timberwolves' 84 points are the fewest ever scored against Dallas in a Mavericks defeat. Record is 40-30.

APRIL 1 — Dallas 86, Milwaukee 72. The Mavericks allow the second-fewest points in franchise history (Dallas held Sacramento to 71 points on Nov. 12, 1988) and set a club record by holding Milwaukee to 25 field goals en route to an easy 86-72 home win over the Bucks. Roy Tarpley scores 24 points and grabs a career-high 25 rebounds (the most ever by a Maverick in a regulation game). The win comes despite the Mavericks shooting a season-low .358. Record is 41-30.

APRIL 4 — Dallas 104, San Antonio 98. The Mavericks tie the biggest comeback in club history — coming from 19 points down — to defeat the San Antonio Spurs, who enter with a 48-24 record, 104-98 in Reunion Arena. The Mavericks, who trail 46-27 with 6:05 to play in the first half, outscore the Spurs 76-51 the rest of the way. The 19-point comeback ties a 19-point comeback at Portland on 11/13/84 as the biggest in team history. Record is 42-31.

Rolando Blackman, who made his fourth appearance in the NBA All-Star Game, led Dallas with 19.4 ppg.

The Mavericks were 29-16 with Roy Tarpley in the lineup and 18-19 without him.

APRIL 7 — Chicago 109, Dallas 108. John Paxson hits a three-pointer as time expires to give the Bulls their sixth-straight win, a 109-108 decision over the Mavericks in Reunion Arena. The Mavericks, who trail by as many as 15 points (80-65 with 4:14 to play in the third period), rally. They open the fourth period with a 19-3 run that gives them a 94-89 lead with 7:45. With Dallas leading 106-103, Michael Jordan, who finishes with a game-high 43 points (the most points scored against Dallas since Larry Bird scored 50 in a 116-115 Dallas win over Boston on 3/10/86), hits a three-pointer to knot the score at 106. Sam Perkins converts a pair of free throws with :05.5 remaining, but Jordan feeds Paxson, who nails a three-pointer from near the top of the arc. Dallas plays without Roy Tarpley, who serves the first game of a two-game suspension (without pay) for missing practice on April 6. Record is 42-32.

APRIL 10 — L.A. Clippers 98, Dallas 90. The Mavericks lead by as many as 18 points, but cannot hold off the Clippers, who come back to win 98-90 in the Sports Arena. Dallas' 18-point lead (56-38 with 10:22 to play in the third period) ties as the fourth-biggest lead it has ever lost. The Clippers outscore Dallas 34-16 in the final period, outshooting Dallas .770 to .270 in the stanza. Record is 42-34.

APRIL 12 — Dallas 140, Golden State 133. Sam Perkins scores a career-high 45 points, including 22 in the first period and 30 in the first half, to lead Dallas to a 140-133 win at Golden State. Perkins shoots 19-of-26 in surpassing his previous career high (vs. Golden State on 1/11/86) by 13 points. In scoring the fifth-most points in club history (most by a player other than Mark Aguirre and Rolando Blackman), Perkins posts Dallas' highest scoring period and half of the season. Perkins, who also adds 13 rebounds and seven assists, overshadows Roy Tarpley's 27-point (most off the bench by a Maverick this season), 15-rebound performance off the bench. Record is 43-34.

APRIL 15 — Houston's 113-102 loss at the L.A. Lakers allows Dallas to clinch its sixth playoff berth in the last seven seasons.

APRIL 19 — Dallas 111, Charlotte 102. The Mavericks clinch the sixth spot in the Western Conference playoff picture with a 111-102 win at Charlotte. The Mavericks play the game wearing their white home uniforms. As part of "Teal Day" in Charlotte, commemorating the Hornets '89-90 home finale, the Hornets received permission to wear their road colors at home. Record is 45-35.

APRIL 22 — Dallas 118, Charlotte 107. The Mavericks announce before the game that Richie Adubato will be the Mavericks head coach on a permanent basis. Richie waves to the crowd before the tip-off and the team goes out and cruises through the season finale, beating Charlotte 118-107. Record is 47-35.

Derek Harper was voted second team All-Defense by NBA coaches after holding opposing starting point guards to 12.6 ppg on .416 shooting.

James Donaldson rebounded from a career-threatening knee injury in March 1989 to play in 73 games in 1989-90

HOW THE MAVERICKS WERE NAMED

In March 1980, radio station WBAP conducted a Name the Mavericks contest. Over 4,600 entries were received and turned over to a five-person committee. The committee narrowed the choices to Mavericks, Wranglers, and Express, ultimately recommending Mavericks to owner Donald Carter. All 41 persons who suggested the name Mavericks were given two tickets to the charter season opener and in a drawing of those 41, Carla Springer was awarded a pair of season tickets.

1988-89 SEASON

Won 38, Lost 44 (fourth, Midwest) . . . was Dallas' first losing season and first season not to make the playoffs since going 38-44 in 1982-83 . . . the Mavericks won their final three games and four of their last five, but were eliminated from the playoffs on the last night of the season when Portland won at home 126-120 in overtime vs. Sacramento . . . that Portland-Sacramento game was the final installment of the NBA's 1,025-game regular season schedule . . . Dallas dressed a full complement of 12 players in just 23 of 82 games and only three times in the final 36 games (the period after the Feb. 15 Aguirre/Dantley trade) . . . the club lost 141 player-games to injury/illness . . . that's 104 more than 1987-88's total of 37 missed player-games . . . the regular line-up of Dantley, Perkins, Donaldson, Blackman and Harper started just two games . . . attendance averaged 16,953, the fourth-straight season of 99 percent-plus capacity . . . Dallas finished fourth in NBA defense, its best defensive ranking ever, allowing a club record-low 104.7 ppg . . . Dallas also set season club records for lowest defensive shooting percentage (.468, sixth best in the NBA), most games holding the opponent under 100 points (29), and blocked shots (476) . . . the Mavericks started the season 9-3 (the best start in club history) and owned the best record in the Western Conference when they stood 17-9 on Dec. 19 (the latest point in any season for the Mavericks ever to have the best record in the conference) . . . however, by Jan. 11 Dallas had tumbled to eighth in the conference . . . overall Dallas was: 17-32 during Roy Tarpley's suspension, 26-37 in all games without Tarpley, 13-23 after the Aguirre/Dantley trade, 7-17 after Donaldson's knee injury (counting the Houston game he was injured) and 9-21 in all games without Donaldson . . . the lineup of Aguirre, Perkins, Donaldson, Harper and Blackman started 41 games (the most of any unit), including the opener . . . Dantley, Tarpley, Perkins, Harper and Blackman started the finale.

1988-89 HIGHLIGHTS

NOV. 4 — Dallas opens its ninth NBA season by losing 116-113 to the team which defeated it in the 1988 Western Conference Finals, the Los Angeles Lakers. The loss means Dallas opens 0-1 for the first time since 1984.

NOV. 16 — Roy Tarpley undergoes surgery to repair torn cartilage in his left knee. The surgery is performed by team physician J. Pat Evans at Baylor Medical Center.

DEC. 13 — Roy Tarpley returns after missing 14 games (Dallas was 9-5) with cartilage damage to his left knee and leads Dallas to a 117-111 home win over the Warriors. Despite the win, the Mavericks finish their opening stretch of the schedule, where 15 of the first 19 games were at home, with a disappointing 12-7 record.

DEC. 29 — The Mavericks score their season-high in points as Dallas defeats the Celtics for just the second time in club history, 131-115. The Mavericks' record stands at 17-9, the best record in the Western Conference. This is the latest point in any season Dallas has had the best record in the Western Conference.

JAN. 5 — Mavericks forward Roy Tarpley is suspended indefinitely without pay by NBA drug counselors for non-compliance with the aftercare program they had established for him. This is Tarpley's second "strike" under the provisions of the leagues' anti-drug program.

JAN. 12 — The Mavericks absorb their second-largest loss of all-time, 130-95 in Seattle. The loss drops Dallas to 0-6 in January — its worst start ever to begin a month — and is its seventh-straight road loss (its longest road losing streak since April 1983). Record is 17-15.

JAN. 20 — The Mavericks drop their ninth-straight road game, this time a 115-99 loss to the Lakers in the Great Western Forum. The loss assures Dallas of a losing January — the Mavericks' first losing month since Feb. 1986 (breaking a run of 17-straight .500-plus months). Record is 19-17.

JAN. 29 — Kareem Abdul-Jabbar makes his final regular season appearance in Reunion Arena as the Lakers hand Dallas its second-worst home loss ever, 118-93, as a national CBS television audience looks on. Record is 21-19.

FEB. 15 — The Mavericks trade Mark Aguirre to the Detroit Pistons in exchange for forward Adrian Dantley and the Pistons' 1991 first-round draft choice.

FEB. 21 — Dallas trades Detlef Schrempf and its second-round draft choice in either 1990 or 1991 to Indiana in exchange for Herb Williams.

FEB. 23 — Adrian Dantley ends his eight-day holdout by reporting to Dallas. Dantley, who arrives at approximately 10 p.m., holds a news conference at Dallas/Fort Worth International Airport.

MARCH 10 — Only 3:41 into the Mavericks' 96-86 loss at Houston, Mavericks center James Donaldson ruptures the patellar tendon in his right knee, and is carried off the floor on a stretcher. Donaldson is injured after rebounding a missed shot by Sam Perkins. He will miss the rest of the season. Record is 31-28.

MARCH 31 — The Mavericks receive a clutch three-pointer from a wide-open Rolando Blackman with :11 remaining to hold off Indiana, 105-102, and snap the club's 12-game losing streak. Record is 32-39.

APRIL 12 — In Roy Tarpley's first game back after being suspended for the previous 49 games for non-compliance with his individual aftercare program, the Mavericks fall behind early and are never able to catch up as the Suns beat Dallas 109-94. Record is 34-43.

APRIL 23 — The Mavericks finish the regular season with a 113-96 win in Denver, but see their playoff chances dashed when Portland wins at home several hours later vs. Sacramento, 126-120 in the 1,025th and final game of the 1988-89 NBA schedule. Final record is 38-44.

1987-88 SEASON

Won 53, Lost 29 (second, Midwest) . . . advanced to the conference finals for the first time in club history, losing to the eventual world champion Lakers in Dallas' first-ever 7-game series . . . ousted Houston and Denver in the first two rounds of the playoffs, winning four road games in the process . . . the Denver series was the first ever won by Dallas without the benefit of home court advantage . . . in his first year as head coach, John MacLeod became the eighth man in NBA history to inherit a 50-win team, and post 50-plus wins . . . he also became the eighth coach to reach the 600-win milestone (Jan. 13) . . . Aguirre and Donaldson played in All-Star Game in Chicago . . . averaged 16,966, the third-straight year of 99 percent-plus capacity . . . Roy Tarpley won the NBA Sixth Man Award by averaging 13.5 ppg and 11.8 rpg in 28.5 minutes . . . ranked seventh in NBA rebounding, the first non-starter ever among the leaders . . . improved upon the club defense record by 4.1 ppg, allowing just 104.9 ppg — sixth in the NBA (two years ago Dallas placed 21st) . . . also set club records for FG percent defense (.470), rebounding (46.8, tops in NBA) and blocks (446) . . . won a club record 11-straight games from Feb. 14 through March 4 . . . only NBA team to use just 12 players . . . the lineup of Aguirre, Perkins, Donaldson, Harper and Blackman started 56 games, including the opener and finale.

1987-88 HIGHLIGHTS

NOV. 6 — Derek Harper's 25-foot three-pointer with 0:01 left gives the Mavericks a strange, 95-93 opening night win before their 36th-straight Reunion full house. The Mavericks' .347 shooting percentage is the lowest ever in a Dallas win. Record is 1-0.

DEC. 9 — Rolando Blackman's eight points key a club record game-opening 17-0 run to highlight Dallas' 125-98 victory over Sacramento. Dallas has the best record in the conference at 10-5.

JAN. 4 — Rolando Blackman goes out in the third period with a second-degree sprain of the medial collateral ligament in his left knee as the Mavericks lose 117-107 to the Rockets - Dallas' seventh-straight defeat in the Summit. Record is 18-9.

JAN. 13 — Roy Tarpley grabs a then-club record 23 rebounds as the Mavericks survive a homecourt scare to defeat Indiana 110-108 and give Head Coach John MacLeod his 600th career victory. Record is 21-10.

FEB. 1 — Behind a John Bagley triple-double and two key steals by Dudley Bradley in the final 1:37, the Nets stun the Mavericks 108-103 in Reunion and end their 26-game road losing streak. Record is 28-13, the best start in franchise history.

FEB. 6 — On All-Star Saturday in Chicago, Detlef Schrempf places fourth in the 3-point contest and Mark Aguirre is married to Angela Bowman at Grace Episcopal Church in Oak Park, Ill. His wedding party includes Herb Williams, Magic Johnson and Isiah Thomas.

FEB. 7 — Mark Aguirre joins James Donaldson, who replaced the injured Steve Johnson, as a member of the Western Conference All-Star team in the 38th annual All-Star Game. Their efforts are to no avail, however, as the East prevails 138-133.

FEB. 9 — Dallas snaps a four game losing streak and records its largest margin of victory of the season, 124-93, against the Jazz in Reunion. Record is 29-15.

FEB. 12 — Larry Bird cans a 3-pointer with :04 left to give Boston a 105-104 victory. The Mavericks led by 11 with 7:22 to play, but Boston outscores Dallas 22-10 in the last 7:06. Record is 29-17.

FEB. 24 — Rolando Blackman scores his 10,000th career point on a 19-foot jumper at the 11:15 mark of the fourth period as Dallas extends its win streak to six, 93-89 over Cleveland. Record is 35-17.

FEB. 29 — On the day he learns he has been chosen NBA Player of the Week for averaging 17.3 points and 16.8 rebounds, Roy Tarpley contributes 15 points and 21 rebounds to lead Dallas to its club record ninth-straight win, 123-96 over the Nuggets. Record is 38-17.

MARCH 6 — Before the national television cameras of CBS, the Mavericks see their club record 11-game overall winning streak and eight-game home winning streak snapped by the Lakers, 108-97. Record is 40-18.

MARCH 9 — The Mavericks are idle, but clinch their earliest playoff berth in club history when Phoenix and Sacramento lose their games.

MARCH 22 — Roy Tarpley, starting his third-straight game in place of Mark Aguirre (thigh), scores 29 points with a club record/career-high 24 rebounds to lead Dallas to a 124-105 home victory over the Knicks. Record is 44-21.

APRIL 15 — Dallas' 110-day reign as Midwest Division leaders ends as Seattle downs Dallas 115-88 in the Seattle Coliseum. The loss, coupled with Denver's 132-125 victory against the Rockets, puts Denver in first place in the Midwest Division - knocking Dallas out of first for the first time since December 21. Record is 50-27.

APRIL 20 — Magic Johnson hands out 23 assists, breaking the Reunion Arena record and tying the Lakers club record and his regular season career high as the Lakers beat the Mavericks 114-107. Reocrd is 51-29.

APRIL 22 — Dallas finishes its home schedule at 33-8 - the second-best home record in franchise history behind last season's 35-6 - with a 127-96 win against San Antonio. Record is 52-39.

APRIL 23 — Dallas is idle, but Denver defeats the Clippers 134-109 to clinch the Midwest Division and deny the Mavericks their repeat bid.

APRIL 24 — Dallas ensures itself of third place in the Western Conference with a 119-109 road victory over the Spurs in the regular season finale. Final record is 53-29, two games behind last season's 55-27 - the first season in franchise history that Dallas has not bettered or equalled its record from the season before.

1986-87 SEASON

Won 55, Lost 27 (first, Midwest) . . . a disappointing four-game first-round elimination to Seattle followed a year of many milestones: most wins, first division title (won by 11 games, the biggest margin in the Midwest since 1980-81), winningest month ever (12-4 March), best road trip ever (4-1 through the Atlantic and Central in March), first-ever wins in Philadelphia and Milwaukee . . . club never lost more than two in a row in regular season, but dropped three-straight in playoffs to Seattle after setting 11 records in a 151-129 Game One win . . . for the first time two Mavericks (Aguirre, Blackman) played in All-Star Game . . . the 11-win improvement over '85-86 was the NBA's third-biggest jump and the Mavericks' biggest step-up since '81-82 . . . for the fifth-straight year Dallas committed the fewest turnovers in the NBA (14.7) . . . 55-27 was fourth-best record in NBA . . . club best 35-6 at home while selling out all but three games and 954 tickets . . . 20-21 away tied club record . . . attendance of 16,984 is club record . . . defense improved from 21st in NBA to 14th (110.4 ppg) and club records were set for FG% defense, steals, blocks and rebounds . . . for the third-straight year Dallas led the NBA in three-pointers made and attempted with NBA record totals of 231-of-653 . . . James Donaldson shattered the club rebound record averaging 11.9 per game, best in the West and among NBA centers . . . only team to win the season series with the Lakers (3-2) . . . the lineup of Aguirre, Perkins, Donaldson, Harper and Blackman started 70 of 82 games, including the opener and the regular season finale.

1986-87 HIGHLIGHTS

OCT. 31 — The Mavericks record their biggest opening night win, 103-77 vs. Utah as the Jazz shoots an opponent record low .311. Donaldson is the seventh opening night starting center in seven years.

NOV. 6 — The Mavericks drill Seattle 147-124 in the Coliseum. Dallas has a club-record nine players in double figures. Record is 3-1.

NOV. 26 — The Mavericks tie their own club and NBA record with just four turnovers in a 129-117 home win over Sacramento. Record is 8-5.

DEC. 27 — Dallas reaches 10 games over .500 with an easy 123-97 win over Phoenix. The Mavericks complete the month as full-time residents of first place (since 11/29). The home record of 12-1 matches '83-84's start for best ever. Record is 19-9.

JAN. 5 — The home win streak ends at nine with a 144-135 loss to the Indiana Pacers. The 144 points ties the opponent high and is the most points ever allowed by Dallas at home. Record is 21-10.

JAN. 16 — The Mavericks post their first-ever win in Milwaukee, 124-122 in OT as four players score 20-plus points for Dallas. Record is 24-13.

JAN. 26 — It's a big day for headlines as Aguirre and Blackman are named to the All-Star team and Derek Harper signs a 10-year contract.

JAN. 29 — Dallas gets its biggest win ever against Denver, 132-102 in McNichols. It's the biggest home loss in Denver's NBA history, and Dallas' first back-to-back wins in Denver since '82-83. Record is 27-15.

JAN. 30 — The Mavericks earn the first-ever sweep of Milwaukee with a wild 133-117 home win. Detlef Schrempf records the third triple-double in club hisotry. Record is 28-15.

FEB. 2 — In what's perhaps the most significant regular season win ever, the Mavericks earn the season series by beating the Lakers for the third-straight time, 103-99 in the Forum. Record is 29-16.

FEB. 8 — Blackman's two FTs with no time left force OT and the West goes on to win the highest scoring All-Star Game, 154-149 in Seattle.

FEB. 27 — The Mavericks get a 123-110 win over Philadelphia on Julius Erving's last visit to Reunion. Record is 37-19.

MARCH 6 — Despite leading by as much as 15 points in the third period, the Mavericks lose to Detroit for the seventh-straight time, 125-115. James Donaldson grabs 20 rebounds and surpasses Jay Vincent's 1984-85 single season record of 704 boards. Record is 39-21.

MARCH 13 — The Mavericks set the NBA single-season three-point field goal record at 178, but lose for the third time in four games and end a 7-game home winning streak, 113-105 to Atlanta. Record is 40-23.

MARCH 17 — The Mavericks celebrate St. Patrick's Day by wearing their green warmups and by clinching their fourth-straight playoff berth with a 114-96 home win over Chicago. Record is 42-23.

MARCH 23 — The Mavericks get their first win in seven games in the Spectrum by defeating Philadelphia, 103-100. Record is 45-23.

MARCH 24 — Aguirre scores a Meadowlands record-tying 43 points as Dallas wins its sixth-straight, 119-107 over NJ. Record is 46-23.

MARCH 28 — Dick Motta gets his 800th NBA win as the Mavericks defeat Washington 114-107 in the Cap Centre. Record is 47-24.

APRIL 3 — History is made as the Mavericks beat GS 136-116 for their 50th win and wrap up their first Midwest Division title. Record is 50-24.

APRIL 7 — Dick Motta is suspended for the April 8 game at Utah by the NBA and the Mavericks are fined $5,000 for Motta's recent public statements which suggested the Houston Rockets didn't try to win in a 117-104 loss April 1 at Phoenix.

APRIL 18 — Dallas closes out its most successful season by beating the Sacramento Kings 125-121 in Reunion. The win closes the season at 55-27, giving the Mavericks 11 more victories than last season.

1985-86 SEASON

Won 44, Lost 38 (3rd Midwest) . . . a repeat of the 1984-85 record and fourth place playoff seed . . . club failed in its bid to become just the fourth team in NBA history to improve five-straight years . . . eliminated Utah in the first round of the playoffs 3-1, then lost to the Lakers 4-2 in the conference semi-finals . . . averaged 16,904 fans per game, second in the league to Detroit (16,957) . . . Dallas sold out 31 of 41 dates and filled Reunion Arena to 99.4 percent of its capacity — an NBA record for a building of Reunion's size . . . home record was 26-15, with seven losses coming against teams which finished the year with losing records . . . on Nov. 25 Dallas traded Kurt Nimphius to the Clippers for 7-2 center James Donaldson . . . Donaldson's strength gave the Mavericks a new dimension and he finished ninth in NBA boards (9.6) — the first Maverick ever among rebound leaders . . . Dallas was 12-22 vs. teams which posted winning records and 3-12 vs. the division winners . . . regular season highlight was March 10th's 116-115 home win over Boston . . . that night, Dallas, playing without Mark Aguirre (ill) overcame 50 points from Larry Bird and a 13-point deficit in the last 5:37 for first-ever win vs. Celts . . . Dallas averaged 115.3 ppg, second to the Lakers but allowed 114.2 ppg — 21st in defense . . . the Mavericks averaged 15.7 turnovers, the fewest in the NBA for the fourth-straight year . . . for the second-straight year Dallas led the NBA in 3-pointers made and attempted with 141-of-446 . . . Dallas was the only team to place two scorers in the top 15: Aguirre 12th (22.6) and Blackman 15th (21.5) . . . Mark Aguirre was suspended for two games on Dec. 21 after refusing to play the second half of the Dec. 19 win at Atlanta . . . Blackman made his second-straight All-Star Game appearance, this time before the Reunion faithful . . . Brad Davis won his fifth-straight Favorite Maverick Award . . .

1985-86 HIGHLIGHTS

OCT. 26: The Mavericks open their sixth season with their sixth different center, as Wallace Bryant starts in the middle vs. Seattle. Dallas comes from 11 down to win 101-95.

NOV. 7: The Mavericks are decimated 131-99 in Denver. The defeat is the biggest loss of the year. Record is 2-4.

NOV. 23: Aguirre has the second triple-double in club history (25 pts., 13 rebounds, 12 assists) as Dallas handles Indiana 117-104 in Reunion. Record is 6-7.

NOV. 29: The Mavericks drill Sacramento 133-111 in Reunion, and play the last 4:17 with a lineup which averages nearly 6-11. Record is 6-11.

DEC. 10: After a storm knocked out the Sports Arena lights, Dallas squandered a 17-point third period lead to lose 120-118 at the L.A. Clippers. Record is 11-10.

DEC. 14: The Mavericks clobber Denver 127-100 in Reunion. Newly acquired center James Donaldson pulls down a career-high and club-record 22 rebounds. Record is 12-11.

DEC. 19: Dallas wins in Atlanta 120-108. Motta pulls Aguirre with 4:19 left in the second after Aguirre fails to get back on defense. The day before in Boston, Motta and Aguirre had agreed that lapses in concentration would result in Aguirre's benching. Aguirre chooses to sit out the second half which results in a two game suspension. Record is 13-12.

JAN. 11: Sam Perkins scores a career-high 32 points as Dallas beats Golden State 127-123 at home in a see-saw overtime battle. Record is 17-16.

JAN. 19: The year's biggest Maverick win: 131-96 over Houston. Record is 19-18.

JAN. 22: Dallas loses at home to the Clippers 131-118. Harper starts in place of Davis. Until then, Davis had started 120-straight games since being rested in the April '84 finale. Record is 19-20.

FEB. 9: The Mavericks and Reunion Arena play host to the 36th annual NBA All-Star Game before 16,573. The East wins 139-132 in a game that's close all the way. The Mavericks' Blackman receives a tremendous ovation during the intros and goes on to score 12 points in 22 minutes while adding eight assists.

FEB. 17: Dallas comes from behind to win 126-124 at New Jersey. Blackman sets club records for free throw makes and attempts with 22-of-23 and the Mavericks set team records and NBA season-highs with 51-of-58. Record is 29-23.

FEB. 28: The Mavericks lose 123-120 at home to Philadelphia on a 50-foot shot by Julius Erving with no time remaining on the clock. Record is 29-29.

MARCH 3: The Mavericks open up a four game road trip with a 139-138 double-OT win at Phoenix. Blackman's driving slam with eight seconds left proved to be the game winner. Aguirre scored 42 to give him back-to-back 40 point games (2nd time in career). It was also the longest game in Maverick history, taking 3:06 to play. Record is 31-29.

MARCH 10: The Mavericks, playing without Mark Aguirre, beat the Celtics for the first time, 116-115 despite a Reunion Arena record-tying 50 points by Larry Bird. Dallas, which now has beaten all 22 NBA opponents, came back from 13 points down in the final 5:37. Record is 34-30.

MARCH 27: The Mavericks clinch their third-straight playoff berth with a 110-105 win at New York. Aguirre scores three of the Mavericks' Madison Square Garden record six three-pointers. Record is 40-33.

APRIL 13: The Mavericks close out the season with a 127-104 win, boosted by a season-high 74 points in the 2nd half, at the Lakers to finish 44-38, identical to last year's record. Eight players scored in double figures to tie the club record while also committing a season-low eight turnovers.

1984-85 SEASON

Won 44, Lost 38 (3rd, Midwest) . . . Mavericks improve their record for the fourth-straight year — only the 10th time that's ever happened in the NBA . . . 20-21 road mark set franchise record and was fifth-best in NBA . . . mysteriously, club fell from 31-10 at home in '83-84 to 24-17 . . . 11 of 17 home defeats came by 10 points or more and nine of the losses were to losing teams . . . the Mavericks averaged 16,694 fans per game, 98 percent of Reunion's capacity and second in the NBA to Detroit . . . it was a "streakless" year — the longest winning streak was four-straight and the longest losing streak was three in a row . . . for the third-straight year, the Mavericks made the fewest turnovers in the NBA, this time with an NBA record low of 14.4 per game . . . Mavericks became first NBA team to have four players make at least 20 three-pointers (Davis 47, Ellis 42, Aguirre 27, Harper 21) . . . the Mavericks' 152 three-pointers led the NBA and were the third-most since the NBA adopted the three-pointer in '79-80 . . . whenever the Mavericks scored 125-plus at home and won, everybody got a coupon from Pizza Hut for free pizza . . . it happened four times in the regular season and on each occasion Dale Ellis hit the "pizza bucket" . . . Sam Perkins made the all-rookie team . . . Brad Davis won his fourth-straight Favorite Maverick Award . . . Dallas was 30-1 when outshooting the opponent . . . 5-5 vs. Atlantic and 19-11 vs. Pacific were club's best records ever against those divisions . . . Dallas was the NBA's healthiest team, losing only six player-games to injury . . . carried 11 players after waiving Howard Carter in December . . . opening game starters: Aguirre, Vincent, Perkins, Davis, Blackman . . . final game starters: Vincent, Perkins, Bryant, Davis, Blackman . . . most frequently used starting lineup: Aguirre, Vincent, Nimphius, Davis, Blackman.

1984-85 HIGHLIGHTS

OCT. 27: A national CBS audience watches Houston hand Dallas a 121-111 opening day loss as Akeem Olajuwon debuts with 24 points.

NOV. 13: Dallas stages its biggest comeback ever, rising from 19 down to win in Portland, 101-94. The Mavericks trail 36-17 with 9:11 left in the second and outscore the Blazers 34-20 in the fourth. Record is 6-5.

DEC. 15: With Aguirre out with a sore knee, Dallas falls 117-115 in Houston. The Mavericks shoot 4-of-5 3-pointers and would make at least one 3-pointer in all but four of the final 58 games. Record is 12-12.

DEC. 18: Aguirre's pulled for not hustling in Dallas' 110-96 loss at Milwaukee as Ellis (23 points) starts the second half. Record is 12-13.

JAN. 3: Dallas loses at San Antonio 116-115 as Ellis misses a free throw at 0:03 which would have completed a 4-point play. Ellis was fouled by Moore while making a 24-footer with Dallas trailing, 116-112. Record is 15-16.

JAN. 7: Dallas beats Seattle 102-84 in a game which took just 1:40 — the club's quickest game ever. Seattle was 2-of-4 from the line as Dallas made just 8 personals — one off the NBA record low. Record is 17-16.

JAN. 13: Dallas' 124-101 win over Portland is highlighted by Ellis' club record six 3-pointers. Dallas (7-of-12) and Portland (4-of-12) combine to set NBA records for 3-pointers made and attempted by two teams in a game. Ellis has 27 points in 20 minutes. Record is 20-17.

JAN. 15: Dallas' 149-104 win at GS is the biggest in club history and club records for points in a half (87, 2nd) and quarter (51, 4th) are set. The 149 points ties for the club scoring record. Record is 21-17.

JAN. 28: Aguirre learns he's not on the all-star team and takes it out on Philly with a club record 49 points in Dallas' 111-109 home win. It's decided when Cheeks misses a 22-footer at the horn. Record is 24-21.

FEB. 3: Motta's new lineup leads Dallas to a 114-106 home win over Denver. Perkins is inserted at big forward with Vincent accepting the sixth man role. Wallace Bryant who has played in just 21 of the first 47 games, starts at center in place of Nimphius. Perkins has 18 points and 16 rebounds while Vincent has 24 and 13. Record is 25-23.

FEB. 10: Blackman has 15 points in 23 minutes as the West All-Stars defeat the East 140-129 before 43,146 in the Hoosier Dome.

FEB. 25: Aguirre (28.8 ppg) is player of week as Dallas goes 4-0.

MARCH 1: Denver comes from 23 down in the last 17 minutes of regulation to win 141:140 in OT in Reunion. Dallas leads 91-68 with 5:23 left in the third and 100-85 entering the fourth. Mike Evans scores 16 of his career-high 38 (he made 5-of-7 3-pointers for the game) as Denver outscores Dallas 41-26 in the fourth. Elston Turner haunts his old team in the last 40 seconds of OT with two freebies and a jumper. Aguirre scores 46. Record is 32-27.

MARCH 10: Dick Motta becomes the fourth head coach to win 700 games, as Dallas wins at NJ 126-113. Record is 35-29.

MARCH 23: The long-awaited Michael Jordan Show turns out to be the Steve Johnson Show, as Chicago defeats Dallas 107-97 in Reunion. Johnson scores a season-high 31 points on 12-of-13 shooting. Jordan has 20 points, 9 rebounds, and 10 assists, but shoots 5-of-17. Record is 40-32.

APRIL 6: In a wild home finale, Dallas loses 139-127 in double-OT to Houston. Seven technicals are called — and all six of Earl Strom's are on Dallas. Mark Aguirre is ejected at the half and Dick Motta with 4:18 to play in regulation. Harper, Blackman, and Lionel Hollins are also whistled, and luckily the Chicken is on hand to divert the crowd's attention. Vincent misses a jumper at the buzzer in regulation. Davis misses a shot at the horn of the first OT. After a 121-all tie with 3:59 left in the 2nd OT, Houston runs off 13 unanswered points. Final record is 42-36.

1983-84 HIGHLIGHTS

SEPT. 28: NBA and Players Association sign anti-drug agreement.

OCT. 30: Mavericks lose 123-101 at SA . . . Jay Vincent tears his right calf muscle, misses the next five games, and doesn't return to form until April.

NOV. 15: David Stern named to succeed Larry O'Brien as commissioner.

NOV. 28: Mark Aguirre named NBA player of the week after 28.7 ppg and 6.7 ppg while Dallas went 3-0.

DEC. 1: Dick Motta named NBA/Haggar coach of the month for 11-4 start.

DEC. 2: Dallas wins 133-115 at LA behind Aguirre's 42 . . . Lakers lead 101-100 after three before Dallas outscores them 33-17 in fourth.

DEC. 3: Club record winning streak reaches eighth and final game with a 110-100 home win over Chicago. The streak, which began Nov. 17, will end with a 112-103 loss at KC on Dec. 6.

DEC. 7: Mavericks lose first home game, 114-112 to Washington, after an 11-0 beginning in Reunion.

DEC. 9: Referee labor dispute is settled.

DEC. 11: Aguirre follows a Dec. 10 40-point game at GS, with 40 more in a 118-116 loss at SD. Is first Maverick to score 40-plus in consecutive games.

JAN. 6: Aguirre has 38 points (16-of-25 FGs) and adds 10 assists in a 123-106 win at SD. Motta: "In my career I have had one other player play like that for me. It was Elvin Hayes one night in Washington when he scored 52. I don't know of many guys who score that many points and take so few shots and still get 10 assists." . . . the win is 100th in club history.

JAN. 15: Dallas runs its home record to 17-2 with a 126-107 Sunday afternoon win over Denver — one of two 19-point wins in '83-84 . . . next 11 home dates, Dallas will go 5-6.

JAN. 24: Dallas beats Utah 123-115 in Las Vegas . . . Motta upstages the Chicken while the mascot is performing his referee "Whip It" routine . . . during a timeout, Motta walks out on the floor and kicks the Chicken's referee doll.

JAN. 25: Mavericks go to all-star break 25-19 after Pat Cummings' beats GS with a baseline jumper at the buzzer . . . final at Reunion was 112-110 in OT.

JAN. 29: Aguirre is first Maverick to play in the All-Star Game, scoring 13 points in 13 minutes in Denver.

FEB. 1: Bernard King scores a Reunion record 50 points (20-of-28 FGs), his second-straight 50-point outing, as NY prevails 105-98.

FEB. 15: Dallas beats Philly for first time ever, 119-116 in double-OT in Reunion . . . Aguirre leads with 33.

FEB. 25: Mavericks win at Utah 97-95 as Blackman tips in an Aguirre 3-point miss at the horn.

MARCH 7: The 0-7 Cleveland jinx ends with a 115-103 Reunion win.

MARCH 10: Blackman scores a career-high 43 in 120-103 home win over GS.

MARCH 13: For the fourth time in 28 days, Dallas goes into double-OT . . . for the third time the Mavericks lose, this time 137-131 at SA.

MARCH 24: Aguirre sets club records with 24 first quarter points, 32 first half points, and 46 in the game in a 119-101 home win over Denver . . . Blackman adds 38, so he and Aguirre combine for a club record 84.

APRIL 1: Mavericks lose fourth-straight, 102-98 at Washington, but earn their first playoff berth when GS loses to LA.

APRIL 6: Dallas ends a five-game losing streak with a 131-118 win over SA . . . for the second time in club history, four players, led by Aguirre's 33, score 20-plus.

APRIL 12: Mavericks lose 119-118 at Phoenix as Pat Cummings misses a lay-in at the buzzer . . . a win would have locked up the playoff homecourt advantage.

APRIL 13: Mavericks beat Lakers 104-103 to take the season series 3-2 and clinch the homecourt advantage in the playoffs.

1982-83 HIGHLIGHTS

NOV. 17: Mavericks sneak up on the defending world champion Lakers to win 118-117 after trailing by 16 points midway through the third period. Mark Aguirre hits three-point shots with 17 seconds left and one second left.

DEC. 29: Mavericks lose to the Philadelphia 76ers in overtime by a 126-116 score in Reunion. Brad Davis ties the game by dropping in a 30-foot three-pointer at the buzzer in regulation. Mavericks miss their first eight shots in the overtime and the Sixers score the first 10 points of the extra period.

JAN. 12: Mavericks break a streak of 12 losses in 14 games, edging San Diego 112-110 behind Aguirre's five points in the final 23 seconds. His three-pointer ties it, and his jumper from the corner with one tick left wins it.

JAN. 14: Mavericks break virtually every club offensive record in 149-139 win over Denver. Records fall with 149 points, 85 first-half points, 65 field goals, 45 assists, and 64 percent shooting. The two teams combine for Mavericks game records 288 points and 62 percent shooting. Dallas leads 85-75 at halftime. Ten days ago the Mavericks totaled 84 points in a loss at Washington. Aguirre scores the first "triple-double" in franchise history with 30 points, 11 rebounds, and 16 assists. Blackman leads in scoring with 31 points but suffers a sprained ankle which will sideline him for three games.

JAN. 18: Dick Motta becomes the fifth coach to log 600 wins as Dallas knocks off Golden State 112-102 in Oakland.

JAN. 22: Mavericks pound Utah 126-88. The 38-point win is biggest ever.

JAN. 26: Dallas finishes off a club-record five-game winning streak by beating the Kings in Kansas City 125-115. Aguirre leads with 35 points.

FEB. 2: Deja vu in Reunion. The Lakers return only to be victimized by Jay Vincent's buzzer-beating jump shot over Kareem. Vincent makes the shot after rebounding a Brad Davis miss, and Dallas wins 122-120. Kareem Abdul-Jabbar leads the Lakers with 34 points on 14-of-16 shooting. Game is Abdul-Jabbar's first since his $1 million Bel-Air home burned down.

FEB. 6: Mark Aguirre scores a team-record 44 points to lead the Mavericks to their first-ever win at Portland. Final is 112-105.

FEB. 8: Mavericks win for the first time in Phoenix, 112-100. This game marks the only occasion all season when the Mavericks win after trailing going into the fourth quarter. The Suns led 76-73 after three periods.

FEB. 9: Mavericks hit the all-star break with a 122-113 win over the Detroit Pistons. This is the 12th win in the last 15 games and catapults the Mavericks into second place in the Midwest Division.

FEB. 23: Mavericks are shown how far they are from the league's elite teams as they are pasted by the 76ers 133-101 at the Spectrum. The loss is the worst of the season and third-worst all-time.

MARCH 2: Mavericks withstand a one-man assault by Gus Williams to edge the Super-Sonics 108-105. Observers feel Williams' 38 points may be the best individual performance against Dallas this season.

MARCH 4: Bucks rally behind Sidney Moncrief to pull out a 108-102 win over Reunion before the season's sixth and final sellout. Marks the first capacity crowd for an opponent other than Boston, Philly, or Los Angeles.

MARCH 26: Kansas City Kings break Dallas' back 114-111 before 14,574 in Reunion. This game starts the Mavericks' seven-game tailspin that took the club out of the playoff hunt. The game was decided on a critical call by referee Ed Middleton. With eight seconds left and Dallas trailing 112-111, K.C.'s Joe C. Meriweather tied up the driving Brad Davis. A jump ball was whistled, the 6-10 Meriweather controlled it, and the Kings completed a come-from-behind win 114-111. Dallas had led 99-89 with 8:19 to play.

APRIL 9: Mavericks snap a seven-game losing streak by surprising the Midwest Division champion Spurs in San Antonio 122-111.

APRIL 16: Mavericks close it out before 14,453 Reunion fans who give the club the now-traditional pregame standing ovation. Unfortunately, losing these emotional home finales is also becoming tradition. For the third straight year the Mavericks aren't even in the final home game and lose this one 132-120. San Antonio shoots an NBA record .707 from the floor.

END QUOTE: "I want to thank our fans for accepting us for what we are, a third-year expansion team that scrapped and hustled and overachieved our way to a pretty-nice season."
— Head Coach Dick Motta

Vincent is 15th in the NBA in scoring and a unanimous first-team all-rookie squad choice by the NBA coaches . . . Aguirre, Blackman, and Turner all receive all-rookie squad votes . . . Aguirre is seventh in NBA three-point FG accuracy (25-71, .352) . . . 49 of 82 games (60 percent) are decided by eight points or less . . . Vincent becomes first Maverick to win an NBA player of the week award on February 15 . . . opening game starters: LaGarde, Aguirre, Lloyd, Mack, Davis . . . final game starters: Bristow, Vincent, Cooper, Davis, Spanarkel . . . most frequently used starting lineup: Bristow, Vincent, Cooper, Davis, Turner.

1981-82 HIGHLIGHTS

OCT. 30: The Mavericks open their second season at Utah, but the debut of the new-look Mavericks (they premiered the green road uniforms after wearing blue the first year) is spoiled. Adrian Dantley (39 points) does his usual routine on Dallas and Utah bounced back from a 15-1 first period deficit to bomb Dallas 105-89. Mark Aguirre leads Dallas with 19 points in his first regular season game.

NOV. 14: Mark Aguirre scores 42 points, then a club record, but the script remains the same. Dallas falls for the seventh-straight time, 118-112 to Golden State at home and the season record slips to 1-8.

NOV. 28: The Mavericks break their 12-game losing streak (will be the longest of the year) with a 111-107 homecourt win over New Jersey. The victory comes after losing 12 of the first 13 games of the season. Jersey City native Jim Spanarkel becomes the first veteran to lead Dallas in scoring with 20 points. Record is 2-13.

DEC. 8: Mavericks enjoy their first blow-out at home, spanking Utah 128-103 (at the time the largest margin of victory ever). The club shoots 62 percent from the floor (at the time a club record) and Aguirre leads seven double figures scorers with 24 points. Record goes to 4-15.

DEC. 9: Aguirre breaks the fifth metatarsal bone in his right foot in the fourth quarter of the Mavericks' 113-109 overtime loss at Kansas City. The injury will sideline Aguirre for two months (31 games). Dallas squanders a three-point lead in the last 20 seconds. Rolando Blackman leads Dallas with 23 points. Record is 4-16.

DEC. 15: Mavericks grab their first of 12 road wins, 107-102 at Washington. Jay Vincent, starting in place of Aguirre, leads the way with 31 points and 13 rebounds. This is the first of 15 games with 30 or more points for Vincent. Record is 5-18.

DEC. 29: Mavericks close out '82 by drubbing KC 104-92 in Reunion. Vincent scores a career-high 41 points on 15-of-22 shooting. Dick Motta gets tossed for the second time this season. Assistant Coach Bob Weiss' record goes to 2-0 as the club improves to 7-22.

JAN. 20: Mavericks come back from 15 points down in the third period to upset eventual Midwest Division champion Milwaukee 109-104 in Reunion. Vincent's 21 leads six Mavericks in double figures. Record is 10-28.

JAN. 26: Dallas wins fourth-straight game (at the time a club record) by beating the Hawks 90-88 in Atlanta. The Vincent and Bristow show is becoming popular. Jay has 30 points, Allan has 15 points, 10 boards, and eight assists. Record is 13-28, and 12-15 since the 1-13 start.

FEB. 15: NBA office announces Jay Vincent is the first Maverick ever to receive an NBA/Pepsi Challenge player-of-the-week award. The first rookie to earn the honor this season, Vincent averaged 32.3 ppg, 7.3 rebounds, and shot 58 percent as the Mavericks gunned down Seattle, and won at New Jersey.

FEB. 20: Mark Aguirre returns after missing 31 games with a broken bone in his right foot. He scores seven points in 15 minutes off the bench as Cleveland beats the Mavericks 116-109 in Richfield. Aguirre will come off the bench the rest of the season. Record is 17-35.

FEB. 21: Mavericks blister the Bulls 113-97 in Chicago as General Manager Rod Thorn takes over for fired Head Coach Jerry Sloan. Brad Davis scores a career-high 32 points on 14-of-17 shooting. At one point Davis makes 11 straight field goals. Aguirre returns home for the first time with 14 points and seven assists in 21 minutes. Record is 18-35.

MARCH 17: Brad Davis' 30-foot basket to end the first-half is the only highlight as Chicago gets 102-92 revenge in Reunion.

MARCH 23: Mavericks pull off perhaps the biggest win in franchise history when Aguirre's three-pointer with seven seconds left gives Dallas a 118-116 win over the eventual world champion Lakers in the Forum. The victory ends the Lakers nine-game domination over Dallas.

APRIL 17: Mavericks finish 28-54, 13 games better than the charter season, after losing 130-124 in Denver. McNichols Arena is stuffed with 17,004 playoff-crazed fans. Vincent leads Dallas with 26 points.

END QUOTE: "Our team is a credit to the league in the way they play. They are a credit to our sport. I don't mean to sound corny, but they are."

– Dick Motta following the 100-94 win on January 21 at Kansas City

1980-81 SEASON

Won 15, Lost 67 (sixth, Midwest) . . . set NBA expansion home attendance record by averaging 7,789 fans . . . used 21 players . . . Spanarkel (14.4 points) and LaGarde (8.1 rebounds) were statistical leaders and only players to see action in all 82 games . . . LaGarde started all 82 . . . Abdul Jeelani scored first points in club history . . . Spanarkel placed fourth in NBA free throw accuracy (.889) . . . 47 of 82 games (57 percent) were decided by 10 points or less . . . opening game starters: Whitehead, Jeelani, LaGarde, Huston, Boynes . . . final game starters: LaGarde, Spanarkel, Lloyd, Mack, Davis . . . most frequently used starting lineup: LaGarde, Spanarkel, Lloyd, Mack, Huston.

1980-81 HIGHLIGHTS

OCT. 11: Mavericks win their historic charter season opener by stunning eventual Midwest Division champion San Antonio 103-92. Winford Boynes leads Dallas with 21 points. Tom LaGarde adds 19 points and 14 rebounds. An opening-night crowd of 10,323 on Texas-OU football game day watches George Gervin lead all scorers with 33 points.

OCT. 15: Mavericks get a rough indoctrination to life on the NBA road, losing 133-98 to Denver in first away game.

OCT. 22: Mavericks win their first of four charter-season road victories, 107-102 before 14,125 disbelieving fans in the Seattle Kingdome. Richard Washington's 24 points off the bench (including 12 in the third quarter) provide the punch.

NOV. 8: Dick Motta joins Red Auterbach, Red Holzman and Gene Shue as the fourth coach to log 1,000 career NBA games. Ironically, Motta gets ejected by referee Tommy Nunez and misses most of the fourth quarter. Mavericks lose to Detroit in the Silverdome 101-73.

DEC. 2: Mavericks sign guard Brad Davis off the Anchorage Northern Knights roster (CBA). Soured after stops in several NBA and CBA outposts, Davis had to be coaxed into signing with the Mavericks by Assistant Coach Bob Weiss, a former 12-year NBA pro who did some time in the minors. Davis had planned on retiring from basketball in the spring to pursue his education. He goes on to play in 56 games, starting the final 26. Davis leads the Mavericks in assists and field goal percentage. Terry Duerod is released to make room for Davis.

DEC. 10: Mavericks trade unsigned 1980 first-round draft choice Kiki Vandeweghe and Dallas' 1986 first-round draft choice in exchange for the Nuggets' first-round picks in 1981 and 1985. Kiki suits up for Denver against Dallas that night and scores six points in 19 minutes as the Nuggets beat the Mavericks 116-107 in Denver.

JAN. 16: Mavericks win back-to-back games for the first time, knocking off the Knicks 118-110 before 10,473 in Reunion. Fourth-quarter specialist Abdul Jeelani personally outscores the New Yorkers 21-20 in the final period.

FEB. 4: On the most forgettable night of the charter season, the Houston Rockets clobber the Mavericks 116-68 in the Summit. Dallas shoots 32 percent on the way to its worst loss.

FEB. 22: Mavericks snap a 15-game losing streak (their longest of the season) by drubbing New Jersey 132-109 at Rutgers. The 23-point win is the biggest of the season.

MARCH 12: Golden State's Purvis Short scores a Reunion Arena record 45 points before fouling out with better than seven minutes left in the Mavericks' 120-118 win.

MARCH 17: Kareem, Magic, and the defending NBA champion Lakers attract an NBA home expansion record 17,828 fans to Reunion Arena. The bad guys win 114-109.

END QUOTE: "This is the best group of pros I've ever worked with. I don't think in 20 years I'll be able to look back and say I've ever had a better bunch. None of you knew you belonged before this season started, and now that you know you do, you have a reason to be proud of yourselves."

— Dick Motta to the Mavericks after the 105-95 come-from-behind win over Utah on March 21, 1981

DID YOU KNOW?

To help commemorate the Mavericks 10th anniversary, Dallas freelance writer Ken Turetzky tracked down the 21 original Mavericks . . . here's a look at what a few are doing today:

- Marty Byrnes (graduate basketball assistant at Syracuse)
- Terry Duerod (a firefighter in Detroit while completing a degree in graphic arts)
- Abdul Jeelani (a counselor at the Taylor Youth Home in Racine, Wis.)
- Tom LaGarde (currently unemployed and living in Paris, France)
- Scott Lloyd (owns a screen printing business in Dallas)
- Jim Spanarkel (a stockbroker and financial analyst for Merrill Lynch in New Jersey)

Norm Sonju, Donald Carter, NBA Commissioner Larry O'Brien and Mavericks VP/Counsel Doug Adkins sign the franchise charter agreement on May 1, 1980.

KEY DATES IN FOUNDING OF THE MAVERICKS

April 1978: Dallas Mayor Robert Folsom and Buffalo Braves President/GM Norm Sonju meet regarding the possibility of moving the Braves to Dallas.

July 11, 1978: The Buffalo Braves move to San Diego and become the Clippers, ruling out the possibility of Dallas landing an established NBA franchise. Sonju directs the Braves' move to San Diego.

October 1978: Sonju travels to Dallas to investigate the possibility of NBA expansion.

February 18, 1979: Carter hires Sonju as general manager. Sonju begins the full-time push to bring an NBA expansion team to Dallas.

June 18, 1979: Carter, Sonju and attorney Doug Adkins travel to New York City to meet with the NBA expansion committee. The $8 million cash offer is not accepted by the NBA.

July 18, 1979: Carter, Sonju and Adkins meet and decide that Sonju should continue the quest for an expansion team utilizing a 24-unit ownership model.

September 27, 1979: Sonju meets with the NBA expansion committee in Chicago. The terms are basically agreed upon: If Sonju gets the financial backing, Dallas gets the franchise.

January 8, 1980: Sonju meets with the expansion committee in New York City again. He is told Dallas will receive the 11th draft choice, not the first as was originally planned.

February 2, 1980: Sonju travels to Washington, D.C. for the All-Star Game meetings with all 24 units sold. He is told each team will be permitted to protect eight players in the dispersal draft, not seven as originally planned. The financial terms also are changed substantially.

April 15, 1980: Carter, Sonju and Adkins meet at Coco's at LBJ & Midway. They write the deal on a napkin and send the proposal to Portland Trail Blazers Owner Larry Weinberg, chairman of the expansion committee.

April 28, 1980: Reunion Arena opens its doors. Mayor Folsom, Lamar Hunt and Sonju speak at the dedication.

April 28, 1980: The check is sent and the league notifies Carter, Sonju and Adkins that Dallas has a team.

May 1, 1980: A news conference is held at Union Station to sign the franchise agreement and announce the team name, colors and logo.

May 28, 1980: The dispersal draft is conducted during the league meetings in Los Angeles.

June 10, 1980: Kiki Vandeweghe is the first player selected by Dallas in the college draft. On Dec. 10, 1980 the unsigned Vandeweghe was traded to Denver in a deal which eventually brought Rolando Blackman to Dallas.

July 17, 1980: A news conference is held at the Hyatt Regency Hotel to introduce Head Coach Dick Motta and Assistant Coach Bob Weiss.

September 8, 1980: Seven rookies and seven veterans take part in the first organized workout. The camp is held at Royal Haven Baptist Church.

September 20, 1980: The Mavericks win their first-ever preseason game, defeating Denver 122-98 at Oklahoma University's Lloyd Noble Center. Jerome Whitehead leads the Mavericks with 13 points.

September 26, 1980: The Mavericks make their Dallas debut in the second game of an NBA preseason doubleheader, losing to Philadelphia 113-108 before 15,634 fans. The twin bill marks the first basketball ever played in Reunion Arena. Houston stops Kansas City 128-106 in the opener.

DID YOU KNOW?

Entering 1990-91, the Mavericks have played before eight crowds of 20,000-plus fans in four different arenas: the Seattle Kingdome, Pontiac Silverdome, Charlotte Coliseum and the Metrodome in Minneapolis. The largest crowd ever to witness a Mavericks game is 24,141 on 2/25/90 at the Metrodome . . . no Maverick has ever finished a season ranked among the league's top 10 shot blockers — that's the only category in which Dallas has been shut out.

Mavericks VP/Basketball Operations Rick Sund, while playing basketball at Northwestern, guarded Minnesota Gophers forward Dave Winfield. "He probably wouldn't remember me," Sund says. "But I remember him because he was a great leaper. I remember him going over my back and me not getting the calls." . . . the shoelaces used by the Mavericks are each six feet long . . . it takes 250 towels and 300 pounds of ice to accommodate the Mavericks and their opponent on an average night at Reunion . . . all-time against the Lakers in Reunion the Mavericks are 6-18 during the regular season and 6-2 in the playoffs.

ATTENDANCE NOTES

The Mavericks averaged 16,868 fans per home game in 1989-90, topping the 99 percent mark of Reunion Arena's 17,007-seat capacity for the fifth-straight season. Dallas has played before more than 98 percent of capacity in six-straight seasons. The Mavericks placed eighth in NBA attendance in '89-90. Each of the seven teams ahead of Dallas play in larger arenas. On Feb. 16, 1989 vs. Miami, the Mavericks drew their 5 millionth all-time fan, reaching that milestone faster than any club in NBA history. The 1986-87 team drew a club record 693,052 fans, an average of 16,984 per game. The Mavericks cut off season ticket sales at 14,000 and make single-game tickets available one week in advance of each home date. Discounted group tickets are available for each regular season home game.

SELLOUTS

The Mavericks have sold out Reunion Arena 218 times in the regular season, including 17-straight and 32 of 41 home dates in '89-90. Dallas has sold out 142 of 164 dates the last four seasons and 173 of 205 home games the last five seasons. The Mavericks have also sold out each of their 23 all-time home playoff games.

Reunion Arena's capacity was 17,772 in 1980, 17,134 in '81-82 and '82-83, and 17,007 beginning in '83-84. The seating configuration was originally changed when the Mavericks added a baseline seating structure for the '81-82 season. The '83-84 capacity was lessened when 127 obstructed view seats were deleted from the seating manifest.

DID YOU KNOW?

Derek Harper's 6-year-old son Darius has done some modeling work and had a non-speaking part in the movie, Problem Child, starring John Ritter . . . former Maverick Allan Bristow, currently the Charlotte Hornets' VP/Basketball Operations, is the only player with ABA and Mavericks experience . . . the Mavericks employ Alberto Dal Cin, a native Italian who has lived in Dallas since 1975, as a European basketball consultant. Dal Cin, who speaks five languages, travels overseas for two-to-three week scouting missions about five times a year.

SERIES NOTES: In '89-90 the Mavericks swept the Hawks (2-0) for the first time since 1984-85 . . . Dallas has now won 3-of-4 vs. Atlanta since dropping five-straight to the Hawks from March 21, 1986 through March 29, 1989 . . . the Mavericks' 117-110 win on 3/19/90 was Dallas' first in the Omni since downing the Hawks there 120-108 on 12/19/85 . . .

Dominique Wilkins' 25.4 career scoring average vs. Dallas is 10th on the all-time list . . . Wilkins scored 40 points vs. Dallas on 3/29/88, ending a Mavericks club-record streak of 131 games without an opponent scoring 40-plus . . . Doc Rivers' 8.8 career assist average vs. the Mavericks is tied with Norm Nixon for eighth on the all-time list.

Moses Malone's 26.2 career scoring average vs. Dallas is fifth on the all-time list, while his 13.2 career rebound average vs. the Mavericks ranks third (trailing only Charles Oakley's 13.9 rpg and Charles Barkley's 13.3 rpg) . . .

Derek Harper was taken with an '83 first-round pick which originally was Atlanta property. Dallas acquired that pick from Cleveland . . . Spud Webb (Wilmer-Hutchins H.S.) and former SMU star Jon Koncak add local touches . . .

Hawks coach Bob Weiss was a Dallas assistant coach under Dick Motta for the club's first six seasons . . . after two seasons as head coach of the San Antonio Spurs, Weiss returned to Dallas to serve as color analyst on Mavericks television games in 1988-89.

Dominique Wilkins (40 on 3/29/87) and Rolando Blackman (33 on 2/19/83) hold the series scoring records.

SERIES NOTES: The Mavericks are 0-10 all-time in Boston, the only city where Dallas is without a "W" . . . last season Dallas, in the final game of a six-game road trip, lost 111-98 in the Garden, after leading 26-16 with 2:07 to play in the first period . . . in 1988-89 Dallas came closest to snapping its Boston Garden jinx, losing there 107-106 on 3/3/89 . . . in that game the Mavericks battled back from an eight-point fourth period deficit to tie the Celtics three times in the final 4:57 . . .

After dropping their first 11 games vs. the Celtics, the Mavericks have won three of the last five games between the two clubs in Reunion Arena . . . Dallas' first ever win vs. Boston was a 116-115 victory in Reunion on 3/10/86 . . . playing without Mark Aguirre (flu), Dallas overcame 50 points from Larry Bird and a 13-point deficit in the last 5:37 . . .

Derek Harper handed out a Mavericks club-record 18 assists in Dallas' 131-115 win vs. Boston on 12/29/88 . . . In six career games vs. the Celtics, Roy Tarpley has averaged 17.2 points on .579 shooting with 13.0 rebounds per game . . .

Boston is 7-3 all-time in Reunion Arena, making them just one of four teams — also Detroit (6-4), Philadelphia (6-4) and the Lakers (19-6) — with a winning record in Dallas.

Lifetime vs. Dallas, Larry Bird has 505 points in 17 games (29.7, the highest average on the all-time opponent list) and 186 boards (10.9, seventh-best against Dallas) . . .

Bird (50 on 3/10/86) and Aguirre (38 on 2/12/88) hold the series scoring records.

SERIES NOTES: The Mavericks won 3-of-4 games vs. the Hornets in 1989-90, and have won 5-of-6 all-time meetings between the clubs . . . Charlotte's lone win, a 102-97 defeat in the Charlotte Coliseum on 12/19/89, ended Dallas' perfect 12-0 record vs. the four new expansion teams . . . in that loss the Mavericks missed 12 free throws, including two misses by Derek Harper that could have tied the game with :24.2 remaining . . . entering '90-91, Dallas is 19-2 all-time vs. the four new expansion teams (Dallas also lost at home to the Timberwolves, 84-82, on 3/30/90) . . .

After competing in the Atlantic Division in 1988-89 and the Midwest Division in 1989-90, the Hornets move to their permanent home, the Central Division, this season . . . Hornets' first-round draft choice Kendall Gill was a boyhood friend of Mavericks second-round choice Phil Henderson while growing-up in Chicago . . .

Mavericks Chief Operating Officer/GM Norm Sonju was honored by the Hornets prior to Charlotte's preseason home opener vs. Dallas on 10/29/88 . . . Sonju was recognized for his support of Charlotte's efforts to land an expansion team . . . Rex Chapman (27 on 12/19/89) and Mark Aguirre (26 on 11/17/88) are the series scoring record holders.

SERIES NOTES: In 1989-90, for the second-straight season, the Mavericks were swept (2-0) by the Bulls . . . Dallas has now dropped four-straight to Chicago after winning 5-of-6 in the series . . . Dallas lost a heartbreaker to Chicago in Reunion Arena on 4/7/90 . . . in that game John Paxson hit a three-pointer as time expired to give the Bulls a 109-108 win . . . the Mavericks had rallied from a 15-point deficit (80-65 with 4:14 to play in the third period) to take the lead . . .

After being held to 26.3 ppg on .433 shooting in his first eight games vs. Dallas, Michael Jordan erupted last season . . . on 4/7/90, Jordan scored 43 points vs. the Mavericks (the most points vs. Dallas all season) on 15-of-26 shooting . . . on 12/12/89 at Chicago, Jordan scored 41 points (third-most vs. Dallas all season) on 18-of-29 shooting . . . Karl Malone's 42 points vs. Utah on 1/13/90 was the only other game of 40-plus points vs. Dallas last season . . . entering 1989-90, Jordan had never scored 40-plus points vs. Dallas . . . his outburst last season raised his career scoring mark vs. Dallas from 26.3 ppg (fifth on the all-time list) to 29.4 ppg (second on the all-time list) . . . only Larry Bird (29.7) has a higher career scoring average vs. Dallas . . .

In 10 lifetime games vs. Dallas, Jordan has shot 111-of-235 (.472) . . . Jordan has added 64 assists (6.4) and 61 rebounds (6.1) vs. the Mavericks . . .

George Gervin (45 on 1/27/86) and Rolando Blackman (33 on 1/27/86) are the series scoring record holders.

SERIES NOTES: The Mavericks swept the Cavaliers (2-0) in 1989-90 and have won 3-of-5 and 6-of-9 vs. Cleveland . . . last season marked just the second time for Dallas to sweep the Cavaliers (also 1986-87) . . . in Dallas' 96-87 win in Cleveland on 2/19/90, the Mavericks defense held the Cavaliers to just 13 points in the fourth period and held Mark Price without a three-point basket for the first time in 35 games (ending the NBA's third-longest streak) . . .
The Cavaliers have held Dallas under 100 points in five of their last six meetings (575 pts. 95.8 ppg) — the exception being Dallas' 105-96 OT win vs. Cleveland on 1/20/90 in Reunion . . .
The Cavs won the first seven games in the series until Dallas finally won 115-103 on 3/7/84 . . . Roy Tarpley (for Jerome Whitehead and Richard Washington) was taken with a draft pick acquired from Cleveland . . . the Whitehead/Washington deal also netted Dallas Bill Robinzine and Atlanta's '83 pick (Derek Harper) . . . Mark Price was a second-round choice of the Mavericks in 1986.
World Free (40 points on 11/4/83) and Rolando Blackman (38 on 3/29/87) hold the series scoring records.

SERIES NOTES: After splitting the season series in each of the previous two seasons, the Nuggets won the season series from Dallas in 1989-90, 3-2 . . . the Mavericks have won 13 of the last 15 games between the two teams in Reunion Arena, but have dropped three-straight and 8-of-9 in McNichols Arena . . . Dallas' lone win in Denver during that stretch was a 113-96 decision on 4/23/89 (the last day of the 1988-89 regular season)

On 6/21/90 the Mavericks traded the ninth selection in the 1990 NBA Draft and Detroit's 1991 first-round pick in exchange for Fat Lever . . . in six seasons in Denver, Lever averaged 17.0 ppg on .454 shooting with 7.6 rebounds, 7.5 assists and 2.5 steals while making two All-Star appearances (1988 and 1990) . . .

In Dallas' 116-109 OT win over Denver on 12/30/89, Rolando Blackman scored 13 of his game-high 29 points in the final 5:50 of regulation, including a career-high three three-pointers in the last two minutes of regulation, to rally Dallas from a 10-point deficit.

Dallas defeated the Nuggets 4-2 in the '88 conference semis, winning Games 2 and 5 in Denver . . . that's the only series Dallas has ever won without homecourt advantage

In its first 43 meetings, Dallas never held Denver under 100 points, but, including the playoffs, Dallas has held Denver under 100-points six times in their last 22 meetings . . . three of James Donaldson's 12 20-plus rebound games and two of Roy Tarpley's 11 career 20-rebound efforts have come against Denver . . .

This series has featured some wild games, like the one played in Reunion on 3/1/85; the Nuggets came from 23 down in the last 17 minutes of regulation to win 141-140 in OT . . . on 12/5/87, Dallas scored a club record 20 consecutive points in the 109-96 win over the Nuggets . . .

Alex English, signed by Dallas as a free agent on 8/15/90, is the all-time leading scorer vs. Dallas with 1,447 points and his 24.5 ppg vs. Dallas is 11th on the all-time list . . .

Kiki Vandeweghe (41 points on 2/8/84) and Mark Aguirre (46 points twice) hold the series scoring records.

SERIES NOTES: After being swept by the Pistons in 1988-89, the Mavericks split the season series with Detroit last season . . . Dallas' 98-96 OT home win vs. the Pistons on 3/25/90 ended a four-game Detroit winning-streak in the series . . .

Richie Adubato calls that 98-96 OT win over Detroit the greatest comeback he has ever been associated with . . . in it Dallas, which trailed by as many as six points in OT, was behind 95-90 with :30.1 to go when Brad Davis connected on a three-pointer . . . after Bill Laimbeer made 1-of-2 free throws to increase the Detroit lead to 96-93, Harper, who scored five points in the final :16.8, hit a three-pointer . . . Harper and Herb Williams then forced Isiah Thomas into a turnover with :15.5 to go, and Harper picked up the loose ball and scored the winning basket with 8.1 seconds to play . . .

The Pistons have held Dallas under 100 points in four-straight games (358 pts, 89.5 ppg), one game shy of tying the Mavericks club record for consecutive games to be held under 100 points by a single opponent (Seattle held Dallas under 100 points five-straight times from 11/21/80 through 11/20/81) and Minnesota held the Mavericks under 100 points in all five meetings last season . . . on 3/27/89 the Pistons beat Dallas 90-77 . . . those 77 points by Dallas are the third-fewest points in Mavericks history . . .

On 2/15/89 Dallas sent Mark Aguirre to Detroit in exchange for Adrian Dantley and Detroit's first-round draft choice in 1991 . . .

Detroit is 6-4 all-time in Reunion Arena, making it just one of four teams — also Boston (7-3), Philadelphia (6-4) and the Lakers (19-6) — with a winning record in Dallas.

Dallas has now dropped seven-straight in Detroit — the club's second-longest active road losing streak (dropped 10-straight in Boston) . . . the Mavericks' last road win vs. the Pistons was a 122-121 decision on 12/10/82 . . . all-time Dallas is 6-28 vs. defending champions . . . Bill Laimbeer's career average of 12.6 rebounds vs. Dallas is fourth on the all-time list . . .

Isiah Thomas handed out a Pistons record and Dallas opponent record 25 assists on 2/13/85 . . . Thomas' career average of 11.5 assists vs. Dallas is second to Magic Johnson's 12.0 on the all-time list . . . the 23,912 for the 3/6/87 meeting in the Silverdome is the largest crowd ever to see the Mavericks play . . .

Kelly Tripucka (35 on 2/9/83) and Mark Aguirre (40 on 2/13/85) hold the series scoring records.

SERIES NOTES: In 1989-90 Dallas won the season series from the Warriors, 3-1 . . . in 1988-89 Dallas lost the series (3-1) to the Warriors for the first time since 1981-82 . . . prior to 1988-89, Dallas had won 25-of-31 vs. the Warriors, including nine-straight from 12/6/87 through 3/14/88 . . .

Mitch Richmond's 26.1 career scoring average vs. Dallas is sixth on the all-time list . . . Tim Hardaway's 9.0 career assists average vs. Dallas is seventh on the all-time list . . .

Golden State's 127-92 win in Dallas on 2/24/89 is the worst home defeat in Mavericks history, and ties a 133-98 loss at Denver on 10/15/80 and a 130-95 loss at Seattle on 1/12/89 as the second-biggest loss in Dallas history . . . that Warriors victory snapped a 16-game Golden State losing streak in Dallas . . .

On 1/15/85 at Oakland, the Mavericks defeated the Warriors 149-104 — the club's widest margin of victory ever . . . the 149 points tied the team scoring record while records fell for most points in a half (87, 2nd) and in a period (51, 4th) . . .

Purvis Short (45 points on 3/12/81) and Sam Perkins (career-high 45 on 4/12/90) hold the series scoring records.

SERIES NOTES: The Mavericks swept the season series from the Pacers in 1989-90, and have now won five of the last six and 13 of the last 16 meetings between the two clubs . . .

On 2/21/89 Dallas and Indiana completed a trade which sent Detlef Schrempf and a second-round draft choice in 1990 (Antonio Davis) to Indiana in exchange for Herb Williams . . . Williams came to Dallas as the Pacers' all-time leader in a dozen categories including points, rebounds, games and seasons . . .

Dallas' 105-102 win at Market Square Arena on 3/31/89 ended a 12-game losing streak by the Mavericks . . . on 1/5/87, the Pacers won 144-135 in Reunion, setting several club records in the process . . . they shot .653 and made just five turnovers in giving the Mavericks one of their six home losses . . . the 144 points tied Dallas' opponent record and ties as the most ever allowed at home (also Portland in 3 OTs on 12/29/89) . . .

Dallas' 14 wins vs. Indiana are the club's most against an Eastern Conference team . . . the Mavericks are 8-2 at Market Square Arena . . . Dallas also has winning road records at New Jersey (7-3), L.A. Clippers (16-8), Charlotte (2-1), Miami (4-0), Minnesota (2-0) and Orlando (1-0) . . .

SERIES NOTES: In 1989-90 the Mavericks won the season series (3-1) vs. the Clippers for the fourth-straight season . . . the lone Clippers win was a 98-90 decision at the Sports Arena on 4/10/90 — a game in which Dallas led by as many as 18 points in the third period . . .

The Clippers' 116-112 win over Dallas on 3/22/89 in L.A. broke a 13-game Dallas win streak vs. the Clippers — Dallas' longest win streak vs. any opponent ever . . . entering 1990-91, the Mavericks have won nine-straight over the Clippers in Reunion Arena, since dropping a 131-118 decision on 1/22/86 . . .

In the 2/6/89 game at L.A., Dallas shot a club record-high .718 in the second half, and connected on 14-of-18 field goal attempts in the third period . . .

The Mavericks enter 1990-91 with 34 wins against the Clippers (34-14) — their most wins vs. any opponent . . . Dallas is 16-8 all-time on the road vs. the Clippers, joining Minnesota (2-0) and Orlando (1-0) as the only Western Conference clubs against which Dallas has .500-plus road records . . .

Norm Nixon (39 on 1/19/85) and Mark Aguirre (40 on 12/11/83) hold the series scoring records.

SERIES NOTES: In 1989-90, for the second-straight season, the Lakers swept the Mavericks, 4-0 . . . prior to this the Lakers hadn't swept Dallas since 1980-81 (L.A. swept Dallas 5-0 that season) . . . after winning the season series for the first time in 1986-87 (3-2), the Mavericks have now lost 12-of-13 regular season encounters with the Lakers, including the last nine in a row . . . the Mavericks club-record for consecutive regular season losses to one team is 11 (Dallas lost its first 11 meetings with the Boston Celtics before beating them 116-115 on 3/10/86) . . . the Lakers' 118-93 win in Dallas on 1/29/89 ranks as the second-biggest home loss in Mavericks' history . . .

No Laker has ever scored 40-plus points or grabbed 20-plus boards in a game vs. Dallas . . .

The Lakers are 19-6 all-time in Reunion Arena, making them just one of four teams — also Boston (7-3), Detroit (6-4) and Philadelphia (6-4) — with a winning record in Dallas.

The Mavericks have sold out 21-straight regular season home games vs. the Lakers . . . there have also been eight more sellouts in Dallas-Lakers playoff games in Reunion . . . the last non-full house in Reunion for a Mavericks-Lakers game was on Nov. 24, 1981 when 14,226 attended the 125-110 Lakers win (Magic Johnson missed that game with a knee injury) . . .

In the 1988 playoffs the Lakers eliminated Dallas 4-3 in the Mavericks' first 7-game series and first trip to the conference finals . . . the Lakers eliminated Dallas in the conference semis in '84 and '86 . . . on 4/20/88 Magic Johnson handed out a regular season career high-tying/club record-tying 23 assists in L.A.'s 114-107 win . . .

Dallas went 7-5 vs. L.A. in the regular season from 3/23/82 to 10/28/84 . . . three of those seven wins came on late heroics by Mark Aguirre (3/23/82 and 11/17/82) and Jay Vincent (2/2/83) . . .

Lifetime vs. Dallas in 42 regular season games Magic Johnson has 847 points (20.2), and 505 assists (12.0, tops on the all-time list) . . . Kareem Abdul-Jabbar (35 on 2/15/81), Byron Scott (35 on 3/12/88) and Aguirre (42 on 12/2/83) hold the series scoring records.

SERIES NOTES: The Mavericks swept both games from the Heat in 1989-90, and entering 1990-91, have won all eight meetings between the clubs . . . Dallas has beaten Miami by four points or less in each of the last five meetings — 518 pts. (103.6 ppg) to 507 pts. (101.4 ppg) . . .

Twice Dallas has beaten Miami with last second heroics . . . on 2/28/89 in Miami, Rolando Blackman scored Dallas' final six points of regulation and its final seven of overtime to lead Dallas to a 111-110 victory over the Heat . . . with Dallas trailing 110-108 in that game, Blackman hit a 14-footer and a free throw with :03 to play to give Dallas the win . . . on 4/2/89 in Reunion, Adrian Dantley banked in a turnaround jumper from 18 feet over the Heat's Billy Thompson at the buzzer to give the Mavericks a 98-96 win . . .

On 3/23/90 in Miami, Derek Harper hit a club-record seven three-pointers in a 106-103 Mavericks win . . . Harper averaged 29.0 ppg vs. the Heat last season (his tops vs. any opponent) . . . Dallas swept the season series from the Heat 6-0 in 1988-89 — the first time the Mavericks ever swept a season series from a Midwest Division opponent . . . in 1989-90 the Heat moved from the Midwest to its permanent home in the Atlantic Division . . .

On 4/18/89 in Miami, Rory Sparrow registered the first triple-double in Heat history as he scored 24 points with 10 rebounds and 10 assists vs. Dallas . . .

Kevin Edwards (27 on 4/2/89) and Derek Harper (34 on 3/23/90) hold the series scoring records.

SERIES NOTES: The Mavericks and Bucks split their two meetings in 1989-90, with each team winning at home . . . Dallas ended a three-game losing streak to Milwaukee with an 86-72 win in Reunion on 4/1/90 . . . the Bucks' 72 pts in that game rank as the second-fewest points the Mavericks have ever yielded (Dallas held Sacramento to 71 points on 11/12/88) . . . Roy Tarpley grabbed a career-high 25 rebounds in that win over Milwaukee . . .

Milwaukee won 10 of the first 12 all-time meetings between these clubs, including the first six in Milwaukee, but Dallas ended that run with a 124-122 win in Milwaukee on 1/16/87 . . . Jack Sikma's 10.8 career rebounding average vs. Dallas is eighth on the all-time list . . . Ricky Pierce is a native of nearby Garland, Texas . . .

On 3/4/83, the Bucks attracted the first non-Philly/Boston/Lakers sellout to Reunion . . . Brad Davis' brother Mickey played for the Bucks from '72-77 . . . the Bucks are 5-5 all-time in Reunion, but have lost three of the last four meetings in Dallas . . .

Terry Cummings (39 on 1/16/87) and Mark Aguirre (35 on 3/4/83) hold the series scoring records.

SERIES NOTES: The Mavericks won four of five meetings with the first-year Timberwolves in 1989-90 . . . Minnesota's only win was an 84-82 decision on 3/30/90 in Reunion . . . in that game Sam Mitchell hit a follow-up lay in at the buzzer to give Minnesota the victory before a shocked Reunion Arena crowd . . . that was one of just three Dallas losses in its last 22 home games (also losing to Chicago at the buzzer and the Lakers) . . .

The Mavericks will open the 1990-91 season at Minnesota on Nov. 2 . . . that will mark just the third time Dallas has opened on the road (also a 125-117 win at Denver on 10/29/82 and a 105-89 loss at Utah on 10/30/81) . . . the crowd of 24,141 which attended the Mavericks' game at Minnesota on 2/25/90 is the largest ever to see the Mavericks play . . .

Neither team reached 100 points in any of the five meetings last season — Dallas scored 448 pts (89.6 ppg) to Minnesota's 419 pts (83.8 ppg) . . . Dallas held Minnesota under 90 points in each of the five meetings — prior to this Dallas had never held the same opponent under 90 points in more than three-straight meetings (Miami in 1988-89) . . . by holding Dallas under 100 points in five-straight meetings, the Timberwolves tied Seattle's opponent record (11/21/80 - 11/12/81) . . .

Mavericks assistant coach Bob Zuffelato served as an assistant coach under Bill Musselman with the Timberwolves last season . . .

Herb Williams blocked a club record-tying seven shots in Dallas' 90-87 win in Minnesota on 12/13/90 . . . while Miami, Charlotte and Orlando were all involved in a divisional rotation plan, the Timberwolves entered the NBA as permanent members of the Midwest Division . . .

Timberwolves Director of Player Personnel Billy McKinney was chosen by the Mavericks off the Kansas City Kings roster in the 1980 expansion draft. McKinney, who was dealt to Utah for a second-round choice on 9/11/80, never played for Dallas . . .

Tony Campbell (24 on 11/24/90) and Roy Tarpley (26 on 2/25/90) hold the series scoring records.

SERIES NOTES: The Mavericks, who swept the season series from the Nets in 1989-90, have won three-straight and nine of 11 vs. New Jersey . . . on 12/20/89 the Mavericks won at New Jersey 84-78 . . . the 84 points are the fewest ever scored by Dallas in a win, and the Nets' 78 points are the third-fewest ever allowed by Dallas and are the fewest the Mavericks have ever allowed on the road . . .

Entering 1990-91, the Mavericks have held New Jersey under 100 points in three-straight (265 pts., 88.3 ppg), including twice under 90 points in 1989-90 (78 pts. on 12/12/89 and 88 pts. 1/29/90) . . .

On 3/6/89 in Reunion, James Donaldson recorded one of just eight 20-points, 20-rebounds game in Mavericks history when he scored 20 points and grabbed a career high-tying 22 rebounds . . . Sam Bowie has averaged 9.5 rebounds per game for his career vs. Dallas . . .

On 2/1/88, the Nets ended their 26-game road losing streak, 108-103 in Reunion . . . that night John Bagley recorded a triple-double (19/10/10) and Dudley Bradley made two steals in the final 1:37 . . . that ended Dallas' six-game win streak vs. NJ . . .

On 3/24/87 Mark Aguirre tied the Meadowlands record with 43 points . . . the Mavericks are 7-3 all-time on the road vs. NJ . . . Indiana (8-2), the Clippers (16-8), Charlotte (2-1), Miami (4-0), Minnesota (2-0) and Orlando (1-0) are the only other teams against which Dallas is plus-.500 on the road . . .

SERIES NOTES: The Mavericks and Knicks split the season series last season, but New York has won four of the last five meetings between the two clubs . . . prior to this Dallas had won four-straight and six-of-seven from the Knicks . . .

Playing without Roy Tarpley (suspended) and Rolando Blackman (sprained right ankle) the Mavericks defeated the Knicks 117-103 in Reunion on 1/19/90 . . . in that game Brad Davis started in place of Blackman and scored a season-high 25 points . . . the Knicks entered that game with a record of 26-12 while Dallas entered 17-20 . . . from that point on, the Knicks went 19-25 and the Mavericks 30-15 . . .

In 1987-88 Roy Tarpley put up his best numbers vs. NY: a then career-high 29 points and a then club record/career high 24 rebounds on 3/22/88 . . . in two games vs. NY that season, Tarpley averaged 21.5 ppg and 19.0 rebounds . . .

On 1/13/87 in Madison Square Garden, Rolando Blackman scored a season-high 41 points — entering '90-91, that's his last game of 40-plus points . . . Charles Oakley's career 13.9 rebounds per game vs. the Mavericks is No. 1 on Dallas' all-time opponents list . . . in 39 lifetime games against Dallas, Kiki Vandeweghe — who was chosen on the first round by Dallas in the 1980 draft — has 864 points (22.2) — 6th on the all-time list . . . in six lifetime games vs. the Mavericks, Mark Jackson has averaged 10.1 assists (tied with Terry Porter for third on the all-time list) . . . Pat Ewing's 25.7 career points vs. Dallas is eighth on the all-time list . . . Ewing has also averaged 10.0 rebounds per game in his nine career meetings vs. the Mavericks . . .

On 2/1/84, Bernard King set the Reunion scoring record with 50 points on 20-of-28 shooting . . . it was King's second-straight 50-point game and tied Adrian Dantley's 1980 Dallas opponent scoring record . . . Larry Bird matched that effort with a 50-point night in Reunion 3/10/86 . . . on 1/16/81 in Reunion, Abdul Jeelani personally outscored the Knicks 21-20 in the fourth period of a 118-110 Dallas win . . .

King (50 on 2/1/84) and Blackman (41 on 1/13/87) hold the series scoring records.

SERIES NOTES: In 1989-90, for the third-straight season, the Mavericks and Sixers split the season series . . . Dallas has won in Philly each of the last two seasons, but has dropped two-straight in Reunion to the Sixers . . . on 12/15/89 in Philly, the Mavericks trailed 88-85 with 2:38 to play, but scored the final 10 points of the game (five each by Rolando Blackman and Derek Harper) to win 95-88 . . . On Jan. 5 in Reunion the Sixers won 104-79 . . . in that game the Sixers scored 21-straight points (from 4:09 to play in the first period to 9:32 left in the second), the most consecutive points ever allowed by the Mavericks . . .

The Mavericks have won 5-of-8 the last four seasons vs. the 76ers after a 2-10 start in the all-time series . . . in Dallas' 121-103 home loss to the Sixers on 1/9/89, Derek Harper scored a then-career high 38 points, including 26 in the first half, while going 6-of-12 from three-point distance . . .

The Sixers are 6-4 all-time in Reunion Arena, making them just one of four teams — also Boston (7-3), Detroit (6-4) and the Lakers (19-6) — with a winning record in Dallas . . .

Philly's 95-90 win on 12/19/87 in the Spectrum ended the Mavericks' 38-game winning streak when holding the opponent under 100 points . . .

Charles Barkley, who on 3/30/86 matched Edgar Jones' opponent rebound record with 25, has the second-highest career rebound average vs. Dallas of any player — 13.3 rpg (trails Charles Oakley's 13.9 rpg) . . . Barkley has also averaged 21.0 ppg in his 12 career meetings vs. the Mavericks . . .

Andrew Toney (36 on 12/29/82) and Mark Aguirre (club record/career high 49 on 1/28/85) hold the series scoring records.

SERIES NOTES: The Mavericks, who dropped three-of-four to the Suns in 1989-90, have now lost six-of-eight to Phoenix since winning five-straight and 14-of-16 vs. the Suns . . . Dallas' only win vs. Phoenix last season was a 108-102 decision in Reunion on 3/2/90 . . . in that game the Mavericks played without Adrian Dantley (broken right leg), Roy Tarpley (flu) and James Donaldson (sore right ankle) . . . that win came on the heels of an 11-day Dallas road trip that ended with blowout losses in New York and Boston . . . it also ended the Suns' 10-game winning streak — the longest win streak in the NBA at the time . . .

Dallas Assistant Coach Gar Heard played five years for the Suns ('75-80) and captained the '77-78 squad . . . Dallas has won 7-of-14 in Phoenix after starting out 1-9 there . . .

Rolando Blackman's career mark of 21.2ppg against the Suns is his highest average against any non-expansion team (Blackman averaged 22.5 ppg vs. Orlando last season) . . .

Phoenix's Eddie Johnson played with Derek Harper at Illinois . . . Johnson — who scored 37 points off the bench in leading the Suns to a 111-103 win in Phoenix on 11/9/88 — has accounted for three of the 12 all-time 30-plus point games off the bench vs. Dallas . . .

Johnson (37 on 11/9/88) and Mark Aguirre (42 twice) hold the series scoring records.

SERIES NOTES: The Blazers swept the season series from the Mavericks last season (4-0) and then swept Dallas 3-0 in the first-round of the playoffs . . . counting the playoffs, the Mavericks have now dropped eight-straight to Portland . . . Dallas' last win vs. the Blazers was a 99-92 decision in Dallas on 3/8/89 . . .

Dallas played its first ever triple-overtime game when it lost to Portland, 144-140, on 12/29/90 in Reunion . . . Derek Harper recorded a career-high 42 points in that game while James Donaldson grabbed a career-high/club-record/NBA season-high 27 rebounds . . . the Blazers sent the game into OT when Clyde Drexler hit a fall-away three-pointer with :21.1 to play in regulation . . . the Mavericks led by as many as five points in the second-OT before the Blazers came back . . .

In 1987-88 Dallas won the season series (3-2) for the first time since 1984-85 . . . counting the '85 and '90 playoffs, the Mavericks have dropped 14-of-16 in Portland since April 1985 . . .

In the 1985 first-round playoff series, won by Portland 3-1, Rolando Blackman scored 43, 41, 30, and 17 points for an NBA-high 32.8 average . . .

Terry Porter's 10.1 assists average vs. Dallas is tied with Mark Jackson for third on the all-time list . . . Buck Williams has averaged 10.1 rebounds for his career vs. Dallas while Drexler has averaged 19.7 career points vs. the Mavericks . . .

Drexler (41 on 3/14/86), Mark Aguirre (42 on 2/6/83) and Harper (career-high 42 on 12/29/89) hold the series scoring records.

SERIES NOTES: In 1989-90, the Mavericks won three-of-four vs. the Kings, including the last three-straight . . . Dallas held Sacramento under 100 points in all four meetings last season (374 pts, 93.5 ppg) . . .

On 6/26/90 the Mavericks acquired Sacramento forward Rodney McCray, the Kings' 1990 second-round draft choice (used to take Phil Henderson at the 49th pick) and Washington's second-round pick in the 1991 draft in exchange for Bill Wennington and the 14th and 18th picks in the 1990 draft (those picks turned out to be Travis Mays and Duane Causewell) . . . in 1989-90, McCray was voted by the Sacramento fans as the Kings MVP . . .

Sacramento Head Coach Dick Motta coached Dallas for its first seven NBA seasons . . . Motta compiled a record of 267-307 (.465) in Dallas before retiring on May 20, 1987 . . . Motta's final team in Dallas was the 1986-87 club which went 55-27 and won the Midwest Division before being knocked out in the first-round of the playoffs (3-1) by the Seattle SuperSonics . . .

On 11/12/89 in Reunion, Dallas held the Kings to Mavericks opponent record lows 71 points, .311 shooting, 30 first-half points and 27 field goals as Dallas recorded its third-largest win ever, 111-71 . . .

At home Dallas is 18-1 vs. the Kings the last seven seasons — the one win was a 127-120 OT decision on 3/12/86 — two days after the Mavericks posted their first win against Boston . . .

All-time the Mavericks are 33-23 vs. the Kings . . . Dallas enters '90-91 with more wins against only the Clippers (34-14) . . . James Donaldson attended Luther Burbank H.S. in Sacramento . . . Dallas tied the NBA record it already shared by making just four turnovers vs. the Kings on 11/26/86 . . .

Otis Birdsong (33 on 12/13/80) and Rolando Blackman (career-high 46 on 3/12/86) hold the series scoring records.

SERIES NOTES: In 1989-90, The Mavericks won the season series from the Spurs (3-2) for a club-record seventh-straight season . . . the Mavericks have now won 13-of-16 and 29-of-40 from San Antonio . . .
The Mavericks dropped the first two meetings between the two clubs last season before winning the last three . . . two of those wins were of the come-from-behind variety: on 3/29/90 Dallas came from 16 points down to win at San Antonio, 109-105, and on 4/4/90 the Mavericks tied their biggest comeback ever by coming from 19 points down (46-27, 6:05 to play in the first half) to win 104-98 in Reunion . . .
The Mavericks held the Spurs, who averaged 106.3 ppg last season, under 100 points in four-of-five meetings (491 pts, 98.2 ppg) . . . vs. Dallas last season, David Robinson averaged 26.0 ppg on .595 shooting with 12.4 rebounds and 4.0 blocked shots per game . . .
San Antonio's 99-93 win in Dallas on 12/8/89 broke an 11-game Spurs losing streak in Dallas (the Spurs hadn't won in Reunion since a 120-116 decision on 12/5/85) . . . the Spurs' 97-90 win in San Antonio on 3/11/89 broke a nine-game Dallas win streak in the series . . .
Dallas' 126-82 win vs. San Antonio on 1/27/89 in Reunion tied as the Mavericks' second-largest margin of victory in their history . . .
The Mavericks won their charter season opener, 108-92 vs. SA on 10/11/80 behind Winford Boynes' 21 points . . .
Mark Aguirre (41 on 2/20/87) and George Gervin (45 on 11/27/82) are the series scoring record holders.

SERIES NOTES: In 1989-90, the Mavericks and Sonics split the season series (2-2) with each team winning once on the other's homecourt . . . on 11/17/89 in Dallas, the Sonics handed the Mavericks their second-worst defeat in club history, 117-70 . . . the 70 points rank as the second-fewest in club history . . . that loss dropped Dallas' record to 5-6 and was John MacLeod's final game as Mavericks coach . . .

Rolando Blackman's 24.5 ppg vs. Seattle last season was his high vs. any opponent . . .

The Sonics' 130-95 win in Seattle on 1/12/89 ties as Dallas' second-largest loss of all-time (also 133-98 at Denver on 10/15/80) . . . Dale Ellis' career average of 23.4 points vs. Dallas is 14th on Dallas' all-time opponents list . . .

In April 1987 the Sonics stunned the Mavericks in the first round of the playoffs winning the series 3-1 . . . Dallas set 11 club postseason records in the Game 1 151-129 win and led by as much as 38 points in the game . . . that was the seventh-straight win over Seattle dating to April '86 . . . the Mavericks swept the Sonics in the regular season by an average of 128.8 to 110.2 and had won four-straight in Seattle before going to Hec Edmundson Pavilion at UW for the playoffs . . . it was the first time a No. 7 seed ever knocked off the No. 2 team . . .

In the regular season, the Mavericks are 18-6 vs. the Sonics the last four years (9-3 on the road) . . . Dallas was 1-4 vs. Seattle in '83-84, then bounced the Sonics from the first round of the playoffs 3-2 in a wild series . . . the Mavericks' first-ever road win was a 107-102 victory in the Kingdome on 10/22/80 — Dallas then lost eight-straight before winning Game 4 of the '84 playoff series there . . . the Mavericks are 6-2 in the Seattle Coliseum . . . they also lost Game 3 of the '84 playoff series there, 104-94 . . .

Gus Williams (38 twice) and Mark Aguirre (39 on 2/29/84) hold the series scoring records.

REB: Roy Tarpley (10.0)
AST: Derek Harper (7.3)

SERIES NOTES: In 1989-90, the Jazz won three-of-four meetings with the Mavericks . . . the lone Dallas victory was a 97-96 win in Reunion Arena on 4/17/90 — (the Mavericks led by as many as 21 points in that game) . . . that Mavericks win helped allow San Antonio to pass Utah and win the Midwest Division title . . .

Karl Malone scored 42 points vs. Dallas on 1/13/90 . . . he joined Michael Jordan (who did it twice) as the only players to score 40-plus points vs. Dallas last season . . .

In 1988-89, Dallas won the season series from Utah, 4-2, and was the only team in the NBA to register two wins in the Salt Palace, where the Jazz finished 34-7 . . . Utah's 95-80 win in Dallas on 4/4/89 snapped a 10-game Mavericks win streak at home vs. the Jazz . . .

John Stockton's 10.0 career assist average vs. Dallas is fifth on the all-time list . . . Karl Malone has averaged 22.3 ppg in 27 all-time games vs. Dallas . . .

In 58 all-time meetings, Dallas and Utah have never played an overtime game . . .

Adrian Dantley (shares opponent record with 50 points on 10/31/80) and Mark Aguirre (41 on 1/11/84) hold the series scoring records.

NBA PLAYOFF FORMAT

1. Sixteen teams qualify for the playoffs: Eight teams from each conference, consisting of the two division champions and the six other teams in each conference with the best winning percentage during the regular season.

2. The first round of the playoffs shall be a best-of-five series with all succeeding rounds, including the NBA World Championship Series, being best-of-seven. All teams will participate in the first round; byes that formerly went to division winners have been eliminated.

Following are the playoff pairings:

Note: Team 1 in each conference is the division winner with the better record, Team 2 is the other division winner and Teams 3-8 are ranked according to their regular-season winning percentage.

NBA PLAYOFF TIE-BREAKING PROCEDURE

Two-Way Tie

In order to break a tie for playoff positions, if one exists at the close of the regular season, the following criteria will be utilized in the order set forth:

1. Results of games against each other.
2. Better winning percentage within own conference.
3. Better winning percentage within own division (only if tied teams are in the same division).
4. Better winning percentage against playoff opponents in own conference.
5. Point differential in games against each other.
6. Better point differential between offense and defense.

More Than Two Teams Tied

1. Best cumulative winning percentage in total games involving all teams tied.
2. Best winning percentage within own conference.
3. Best winning percentage within own division (only if tied teams are in same division).
4. Best winning percentage against playoff opponents in own conference.
5. Best point differential between offense and defense.

If a multiple team tie is reduced to a two-team tie at any point using the above criteria, the two-team tie will be resolved in accordance with the existing two-team tie procedure.
